Jay Leno returns to his hometown

By Neil Fater

Tonight Show host Jay Leno had been signing his name for nearly two hours longer than originally planned when yet another fan approached for an autographed copy of his new book.

"The good news is there's only 100 people left in line," said the man.

"The bad news is they all have 15 books."

"The bad news is if they don't have any books," said the quick-witted Leno.

But there was no need to worry about that Sunday as Mr. Leno wore out his left hand signing more than 1,200 copies of his book, Leading with My Chin, during a book-signing at Andover Bookstore.

A spokesperson for Harper Collins, Mr. Leno's publisher, said including pre-orders of the book, Mr. Leno sold and signed more copies here in his hometown of Andover than he had at his previous stops in Pasadena, Santa Monica and Phoenix.

"This is fun," Mr. Leno said, shortly after settling in at the table that would become his home for the next four hours.

Trash, assisted living, ConsCom funds highlight Special TM

With a proposal to spend $6 million to extend the town sewer likely to be withdrawn from the warrant, a request for $3.5 million to buy conservation land will be the big money item for voters to ponder at next week's Special Town Meeting.

Special Town Meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 23, at 7 p.m. at West Middle School auditorium on Shawsheen Road. The auditorium seats about 760 persons, and there is overflow capacity for about 200 in the cafeteria.

Babysitting will not be available. Parking will be in the West Middle and High School lots. Handicapped drop off and parking will be in the semicircle in front of West Middle. The meeting will not be televised, but it will be taped for broadcast on local cable television at a later date.

Opportunities are knocking downtown

Second in a series that will explore the attractiveness and viability of downtown Andover and its business mix. The series will look at the possibility of a parking garage, the retail mix downtown, planning issues and what residents and town officials want from their downtown.

By Don Staruk

The greatest needs downtown are a grocery store, a hardware store and a greater variety of retail offerings, according to surveys collected at April Town Meeting last spring. And all three of those needs could be satisfied in the near future if the town and/or a developer or developers have vision and are willing to act on it, according to one downtown businessman.

If the opportunity is missed, says Paul Salafia, owner of Advertising Management at 16 Post Office Ave., residents may likely watch from the sidelines as Salem, N.H., and Route 114 in North Andover continue to pull consumers away and the downtown stagnates.

"We do not need revitalization, we need continued vitalization," Mr. Salafia says.

Mr. Salafia, who has had an office downtown for 15 years, is one of about 20 business owners and others who have been meeting monthly for the past year to discuss ways to enhance Andover's downtown to keep it vital. He is also a resident and a member of the town's Planning Board. He talked with

No Christmas lights downtown this year

By Don Staruk

Main Street will not be lit with Christmas lights this year, but that won't be much different from the past couple of years, according to Lori Becker, chairwoman of the Andover Center Association.

The company that has put up the lights in years past, Bomar Christmas Decorating of Goffstown, N.H., has done such a poor job the last two years that the Center Association has decided not to hire it this year, Ms. Becker said. And Bomar is the only company in New England that provides that service, she said, so the ACA decided to forego the lights this year and will instead encourage its members to include more lights in their storefront displays.

"I know this is something people are going to be disappointed in, and I'm sorry, but they were disappointed last year," said Ms. Becker, owner of Mom and Me Maternity in Olde of vitalization, Mr. Salafia said.

Downtown opportunities

If all three of the opportunities he talked about came to pass, he would like to see what people put on the surveys for what downtown needs next time they are asked, Mr. Salafia said. They would have two major retailers, groceries and countless additional retail options downtown, with a hardware store a quarter of a mile away.

"There isn't a person in this town who wouldn't gain from that," he said. "Put two out of three, even one out of three, of these plans in place and everybody in town will gain."

"This is vision. That's all it is," Mr. Salafia says. People have to look and say, "if you could, would you? Fill in the blanks."

This is the type of planning the Planning Board should be doing, Mr. Salafia says, but unfortunately members are bogged down responding to subdivision applications, many of which have been spurred by the effort to control growth in town, he says.

"We need to devote more time to the vision of Andover," he says. "I look at it as an exciting time."

Andover Village.

The town will light the trees in front of Old Town Hall, according to Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski. And the ACA will put some barrels with pine trees in them in front of Old Town Hall and decorate those, and the Center Association's banners, which say "peace" and "joy," will still be hung on light posts downtown this year.

But the lights will not be strung in the trees all along both sides of Main Street, from Punchard Avenue to Elm Square, as in years past.

The Center Association, a group of downtown merchants who work together to promote and manage downtown activities and interests, usually pays half the $6,000 it costs to hang the lights. The town picks up the other $3,000.

Three years ago, because they were not satisfied with Bomar's work, ACA members tried to find another company to work with, and even looked into buying the equipment and hanging the lights themselves. But they learned there is no other company in the area, and that the lights and cables at that time cost about $30,000. "There is only one company that does it in all of New England," Ms. Becker said.

And since most of Bomar's customers are big malls that often have the same owners, they get priority treatment and Andover is merely a "midget" account, Ms. Becker said. But the ACA decided to continue with Bomar.

Two years ago, instead of having the lights up the day after Thanksgiving, Bomar didn't get them up until the night of Holiday Open House the first weekend in December, and only then with unceasing pressure from the ACA, Ms. Becker said. Last year, the lights were not even up for Holiday Open House, and after they were put up Dec. 15, only two or three trees were lit sporadically throughout the holidays, according to Ms. Becker.

"It was so disappointing the last two years," Ms. Becker said.

So rather than deal with the anticipation and disappointment of the last two years, the ACA will encourage store owners to do their own decorations bigger and better than ever this year, and will work toward improving the light situation for next year and the future. One possibility is having a tree sponsorship program in which groups or businesses could raise money to purchase the lights and cables for each tree, and the ACA will work with local electricians to get them up and lit. Each year, the sponsor program could add to the previous year and eventually the whole downtown may be lit again.

Most towns own and put up their own lights, Ms. Becker said. But she said this town does not have the equipment or a lighting company to put them up, and doesn't appear interested in changing that, she said.

Mr. Stapczynski said this town does not own the equipment and is not really interested in getting into the tree lighting business. He said the town will work with the ACA to make the best of the situation this year, and will work with the group toward improving the lighting situation in the future.

A best case scenario for that, Mr. Stapczynski said, would be finding another contractor to put the lights up. The least desirable option would be the town buying and putting up the lights itself, he said.

Survey: Andover needs grocery, hardware stores, parking

By Don Staruk

Surveys asking people what Andover's downtown needs are not new, and neither are the answers.

A 1975 survey of all houses in Andover drew nearly 6,000 responses. Respondents said they most frequently used downtown for grocery shopping and banking, and that the central business district should not expand. Nearly half wanted more parking.

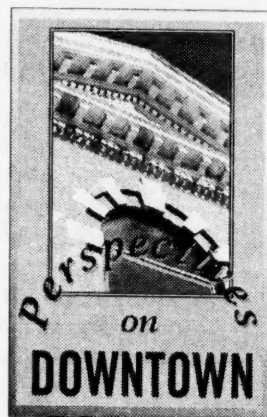

In 1991, the then-Central Business District Subcommittee asked a group from Merrimack College to perform another survey, this time targeting mostly shoppers in the downtown. With no grocery store located in the Central Business District, shoppers' main purpose to visit downtown was for errands, according to the results. The goods or services that people most frequently shopped for included, again, banks, but also restaurants, drug-stores, gifts, hairdressers and barber-shops.

The greatest lack in 1991 was a hardware store, which had also closed since 1975, and also a grocery store.

"The most negative response is the current parking situation," stated the report summary, but 60 percent of respondents rated parking fair to good.

Seventy-five percent of respondents in the 1991 survey wanted a greater variety of service establishments, including several who wanted a fast-food restaurant and entertainment, such as a movie theater or coffee house.

Jump ahead now to April 1996 and the Planning Board's survey distributed at the annual Town Meeting. Approximately 500 residents responded to the survey. The following is a list of some of the comments from the 1996 survey regarding what is needed downtown.

- A hardware store and more breakfast stores. (One person asked that the Lantern Brunch be moved closer to downtown);
- Supermarket, butcher and produce store. (Nobody said the town needs more banks);

- A parking garage;
- Notions (needles, thread, etc.) store;
- Bakery and a cheese store;
- Ice cream store;
- Stationery/office supply store (The one here closed last year);
- More trendy stores, i.e., Gap, J. Crew;
- Ethnic restaurants, i.e., Mexican, Thai, Indian;
- Clothes store for teens (See page 8 for a new teen clothing store);

People like the size of the downtown and several commented that it is very "walkable."

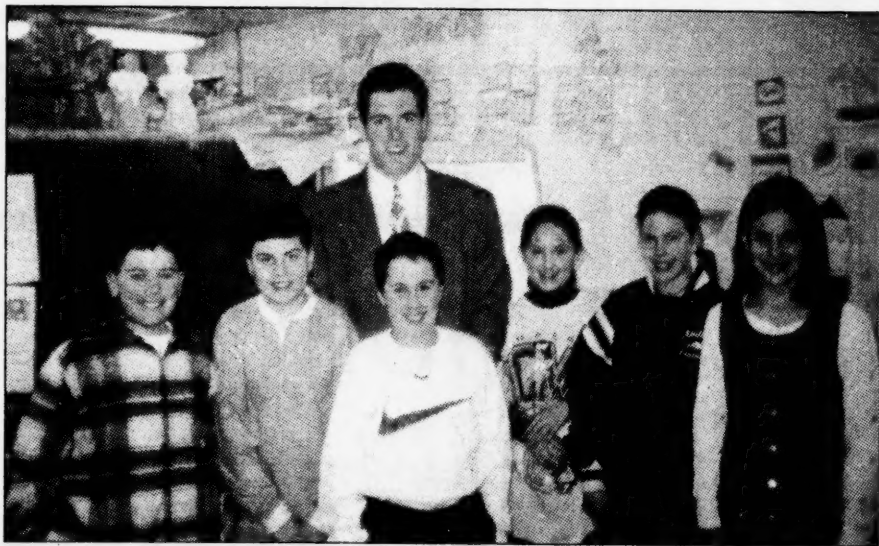

- Kitchen/housewares store;
 - Craft shop;
 - Place for dog owners and their dogs to congregate i.e., cordon off an area in the Park;
 - Entertainment i.e., movie theater, coffee/dessert shop open evenings;
 - More outdoors picnic/lunch
 - Bus service from the outskirts of town;
 - Less vehicle traffic;
 - More trees;
- People like the size of the downtown and several commented that it is very "walkable."
- While some respondents to the 1996 survey said they would use a shuttle bus to downtown from a remote parking lot, others said a shuttle would ruin the convenience and small-town feel of downtown.

State rep. forum should bring out the differences in Fox and Finegold

By Neil Fater

Voters will have a chance tonight, Thursday, at Memorial Hall Library to see the differences in style and substance between Republican James Fox and Democrat Barry Finegold, the final candidates for Gary Coon's state representative seat.

A forum, sponsored by the League of Women Voters and moderated by Betsey Cullen, will begin at 7:30 p.m. The election is Tuesday, Nov. 5.

Those who attend tonight's forum should have little problem telling the candidates apart if this debate is anything like the forum held at the Andover Senior Center prior to the state primary election.

During that forum Mr. Fox, 64, talked about his lengthy business experience and suggested Massachusetts should lower the state sales tax over a 10-year period.

Mr. Finegold, 25, mentioned his current, though brief, experience on the Board of Selectmen, and talked about buying open land to slow growth.

The candidates differed on whether the senior voucher program should be expanded to the state level. Mr. Finegold said he was in favor of this program, which allows seniors to earn a $500 tax voucher for volunteer service.

"For volunteer work, I don't think you should really get vouchers," said Mr. Fox.

During the forum, Mr. Finegold appeared more politically smooth and savvy than Mr. Fox.

Asked point blank whether they would fix parking tickets if elected, Mr. Finegold made it clear he would not.

"You're no better than anyone else," said Mr. Finegold. "They (people with connections) shouldn't be treated any differently or have any special privileges."

Mr. Fox said, "I always went to the clerk of the courts that I knew. They're the ones who can" fix tickets.

After talking about a particular traffic incident in which he was involved, Mr. Fox concluded his answer by saying he would use his best judgment with such matters.

In addition, during his opening statement at the Andover Senior Center, Mr. Finegold acknowledged his 80-year-old grandfather who traveled from Pennsylvania to be there.

During his closing statement, Mr. Fox told the seniors, "I think you people ought to get off your duff and maybe do something" about getting a new senior center.

Naturally, this upset some seniors who feel they've worked hard to both raise money and convince the town a new center is needed.

Genetics to break ground on new building

By Don Staruk

Genetics Institute will break ground next week for the newest addition at its 1 Burtt Road plant, a 110,000-square-foot laboratory and office building.

The ground breaking is scheduled for Friday afternoon, Oct. 25. Several local officials are expected to attend.

A special permit for the building was approved by planners last July and design plans are 60 percent complete, according to Dale Blank, vice president of facilities for Genetics.

"The main function is for our quality group that does the quality assurance and quality control for the manufacturing that we do in Andover, which is going great," Ms. Blank said.

The three floors of laboratory and office space will be topped by a 12,000 square-foot mechanical penthouse enclosing sensitive environmental control equipment. The new 400-foot long by 90-foot wide building will be slightly taller than the first building on the site, and slightly lower than the laboratory building completed about two years ago. All three buildings will be connected by enclosed walkways.

Although the building permit had not been issued by early this week, Ms. Blank was confident it would be issued soon.

"We've ordered the steel," she said.

The company plans to build right through the winter and to bring the building on-line the end of 1997.

"It will be approximately a one-year construction period," Ms. Blank said.

Genetics has a total of about 1,200 employees, with about 700 in Andover and 500 in Cambridge. The new building will eventually house about 300 employees, but most will be current workers who will expand into that space from existing buildings. But there will be room for 75 to 100 additional scientific positions to be housed on the third floor at a later date, probably in 1998 and 1999, said Ms. Blank.

The new Genetics building will give the company about 500,000 square feet of office, laboratory and production space at the site. That is about half of what the Cambridge-based company hopes will, in the next 15 years, become a 1-million-square-foot campus in South Andover. The company expects to have 1,800 to 2,000 employees working at the facility at full buildout.

Town will not buy Krinsky property in downtown Andover

By Don Staruk

Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski said this week he did not submit a bid to purchase either of the two Krinsky properties on Park Street.

Pam Schwartz, the executrix of the Krinsky estate, was soliciting closed bids for properties through last Wednesday, Oct. 9. She could not be reached last week or this week to respond to a question on whether a bid has been awarded.

Mr. Stapczynski had previously expressed interest in purchasing the property, at least for use as a parking lot if nothing else. But after discussions with selectmen he changed his mind because the "site is so very small," he said. It is too small to consider for a parking lot, he said, and he did not want to get the town into the real estate business just to control development on the site.

"I think the development of it should best be left to the private market forces, and not the public market forces," Mr. Stapczynski said. "We want to work with whoever is going to acquire it."

The Krinsky properties include the 11,000-square-foot former junkyard lot on Park Street, and the two-family house on a roughly 5,000-square-foot lot at 33 Florence St. They were being offered either separately or together. The house is zoned residential, but the junkyard lot is in the Central Business District commercial zone.

The house and lot are currently assessed at a total of $145,900. The junkyard property was assessed at $174,700 and $26,000 for the lot and buildings respectively. Now that the buildings are gone, the assessment for the lot would be the total assessment, according to Bill Krajewski, town assessor.

Ms. Schwartz said in August that the sale would not necessarily go to the highest bidder, but that she would take into consideration the wishes of those named in Mr. Krinsky's will as beneficiaries of his estate.

Try The Sassy Radish for 'smart and spirited' teen clothing

By Monique Vallee

The Sassy Radish is "a lively little boutique, with unique style for the smart and spirited."

This is how co-owners Laura Marino and Janice Copeland, sisters from Andover, Patti Doherty of Amesbury who is a former Andover resident, describe the shop they opened at 68 Park St. two months ago.

Each is a mother and grew tired of driving to Harvard Square or Newbury Street to buy the urban clothing their kids wanted. They saw a need for a comfortable place right in town, where young people could "shop and have their own identity."

From there the idea for the store was born.

The Sassy Radish is hip, urban and reasonably priced.

Entering it is like entering the coolest dorm room on campus. Its atmosphere and merchandise are decidedly laid-back and contemporary.

They carry velvet party dresses, vintage jeans, custom-designed Dickies and Request clothing.

The Sassy Radish is primarily a unisex clothing store, however it has select items

EXL Group hired to plan fire department's future

The Wareham Fire District has retained EXL Group, 21 Central St., to facilitate a strategic planning process to address its future needs.

The district's Prudential Committee, Board of Engineers and Water Commission are implementing a long-term planning process designed to provide a roadmap to the year 2010 and form the basis for capital improvements. The District has a population of 14,700 which expands to 34,500 in the summer.

According to Assistant Fire Chief Robert McDuffy, "All three boards have common issues and have 'come to the table' to share their joint concerns instead of proceeding in three separate directions. Today's municipalities have to take a professional approach to long range planning if they want to maximize resources and keep in step with the concerns of their constituencies."

Founded in 1988, EXL Group, a nationally-recognized quality management consultancy, with offices in Andover and Manchester, N.H., specializes in executive coaching, strategic planning, and people and process-related change services.

The Sassy Radish encourages input from its customers. Outside is a bulletin board where events can be posted. Inside is a suggestion box for new clothing ideas. The owners pay close attention to the suggestion box.

"We take the suggestion box seriously.

The Sassy Radish is not just another store that sells funky clothing and gifts, according to its owners. It is a place for teens and about teens, especially those who want to shop locally for the things they find unique, and even a bit "sassy."

FINANCIAL STRATEGIES

TOO SAFE?

Investors always take a certain amount of risk. One form of risk is that one could lose more than the amount that they originally committed to the investment. Another is that their return of investment could be so small as not to count as an investment at all. Most people are likely to put themselves in an investment scenario that is more like the latter than the former situation. In fact, approximately 75 percent of Americans have most of their retirement money in investments that are not beating inflation. Trying to avoid risk by only investing in the safest products is a mistake, especially if retirement is a long way down the road. The solution is to diversify risk in much the same manner that an investor diversifies the type of investments that he or she makes. Diversification in either area takes a certain amount of planning and knowledge, each of which is available with the help of a financial expert. If one invests in the appropriate investment vehicle, given their goals and when they wish to have the funds available, this is perhaps the best way to control risk. For example, 100% of the time since 1907, when investments began to be formally monitored for performance, stocks have earned more money for their owners than any other form of investment 100% of the time over any 15-yr. period. Please talk to us soon - we'll help you determine what investments might be best for you.

Like many people who don't like high risk, you may think you have to settle for low returns on your investments. Not necessarily so! At BAYSTATE FINANCIAL SERVICES, 10 Essex Street, Andover, we are here to help you develop and create a complete financial plan to fit your financial goals. We also work with a wide array of financial services, including life insurance, group benefits (for businesses of all sizes), and pension and retirement planning services. Ruggere Tutorial brings fresh approach to tutoring

The school year has just started, but some parents and students are already dreading that first report card. To compete in an increasingly fast-paced world, students need the options that better grades can give them. But some students, despite their best efforts, do not do as well as they should.

Now a new tutoring service in Andover brings a fresh approach to the old problem of poor scholastic performance.

Tutoring in each course is not only expensive and time-consuming, but it's also not the best answer for many students, according to Timothy Ruggere of Ruggere Tutorial. Often a student's troubles develop, not from any particular course, but from overall reading problems, he said.

Crowded curriculums leave little time for work on reading skills after elementary school. In Mr. Ruggere's experience, the core problem for many students is a need for textbook reading strategies.

"Reading and understanding the text and studying effectively are key to success in all subjects. Difficulties in reading textbooks, studying, note-taking and retention are unnecessary barriers to learning," Mr. Ruggere said. "Teaching a student how to read a text provides empowering skills, increasing success in all subjects."

With a masters as a reading specialist, and middle and high school teaching experience in Boston and North Reading, Mr. Ruggere has developed a teaching style based on cross-curriculum problem-solving.

"Rather than teaching physics, I teach students how to read a physics textbook. Over the last five years, with these methods, my students have consistently improved two to three grade levels in reading with better study, retention and reading skills."

Beginning with a battery of diagnostic tests to reveal underlying problems, he then develops a program for each student to strengthen skills and teach learning strategies.

A resident of Andover since April,

Mr. Ruggere expects to have openings for five new students this fall.

instruction."

Prior to joining DCI, Mr. Gomes served as information systems consultant/manager and methods manager for American Mutual Insurance Co., where he was involved in the implementation of a multi-million dollar policy management system.

Other activities in which Mr. Gomes was involved at American Mutual resulted in significantly increased staff productivity, major backlog reduction and improved cash flow management.

Robert F. Hatem

The Merrimack Valley Red Cross has announced that Robert F. Hatem of Lowell, manager of customer and community relations for Raytheon Electronic Systems, has been named chairman of the board of directors of the Merrimack Valley chapter.

Mr. Hatem will oversee all chapter services for 25 communities in Northeastern Massachusetts and Southern New Hampshire. He succeeds Joseph Sweeney of Lawrence, who was chapter chairman since 1993.

Mr. Hatem was born and educated in Lawrence. He is director of Lawrence Savings Bank and chairman of its community relations committee. He was elected to the Lawrence Boys Club Hall of Fame in 1989 and has been a Red Cross volunteer and director for six years.

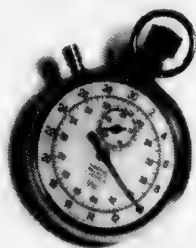

Mr. Hatem was chairman of the 1995 Merrimack Valley United Way Campaign and was responsible for completing the most successful campaign in United Way's history.

"It's an honor and privilege to serve as chairman of the Merrimack Valley Red Cross," Mr. Hatem said. "I look forward to continuing the work that Joe Sweeney started. The chapter is functioning as a highly successful and effective organization because of Sweeney's leadership and the efforts of the volunteers and staff."

Mr. Hatem is married to the former Joanne Murtagh of Medford, a teacher at the Bartlett School in Lowell. They have four children: Milissa Moynihan and Michelle Meehan, both of Lowell; Robert Hatem Jr. of Auburn, N.H.; and Jennifer Carey of North Andover.

AHS Marching Band edged out by East Bridgewater

By Kenneth H. Stowe

Andover Band Parents Association

The aluminum bleachers were cold and East Bridgewater was hot. Except for those two problems, the AHS Marching Band and its boosters could consider Oct. 12 a flawless Saturday in Beverly, as eight high school marching bands met in competition under cloudless skies at Hurd Stadium.

The Golden Warriors of Andover High, led by Liz Roy, president, and Matt Redmond, vice president, gave their best performance of the year. Their program featured Roundabout, Changes, and I've Seen All Good People by the British art-rock group Yes.

The score awarded by the New England Scholastic Band Association judges was an admirable 75.7 points, best percussion for Division I, a silver medal, and a generous improvement over their previous score.

Alas, East Bridgewater nailed their songs and artistic effort and won the high music and color guard honors and earned a 78.4-point score to win Division I.

The AHS band has had a busy schedule. This week felt like last week. It started with a performance at the Friday night football game. Saturday morning, the sunrise illuminated more

Shawsheen float replicated the school

By Kathleen McArthur
Shawsheen School PTO

Shawsheen School's float for the 350th parade was a replica of the school. Bridging the past, present and future, the float, which was conceived and designed by architect Craig Gibson, coupled the architectural beauty of this oldest operating school in Andover with a revolving wheel illustrating the school's pre-K through Grade 2 themes of conservation, exploration and preservation. These themes were depicted by the linked figures in the center of the wheel of three children dressed as a park ranger, an astronaut and a preservationist wearing an endangered species outfit. On the rim of the wheel rides a school bus with children, a whale and trees. Jennifer Cullen-Struhl painted the details and Bob Abisi tirelessly turned the theme wheel during the course of the parade.

The float was a cooperative volunteer effort of staff and parents who devoted innumerable hours to its design, construction and painting. Work continued throughout the summer and into September as these themes, than 30 musicians, their fingers freezing, and their breathing coming in frosty bursts.

Practice lasted until 3 p.m.

Sunday morning at 9, it was back to the band room to rehearse, pack, and prepare for their 1 p.m. performance. Most parents saw their young musicians drag themselves home just in time to set the table for dinner.

Next week, the band gets a well deserved rest from competition. On Sunday, Oct. 27, AHS plays host to some of the best marching bands in the state. The Lovely Field festivities begin at 1 p.m.

The event serves as the culmination of many hours of work, and is an important fundraiser for the Andover Band Association.

Treble Chorus receives grant

The Treble Chorus of New England at Merrimack College has been awarded an $11,000 grant, the largest single grant in the choir's history, by the Massachusetts Cultural Council (MCC).

MCC commended the Treble Chorus on "its aggressive and impressive concert calendar" and particularly noted the Young Men's Changed Voices ensemble as a one-of-a-kind program. The council also made note of the chorus' "very high" performance quality.

Marie Stultz, founder and artistic director of the chorus, attributes the steady increase in recognition by the MCC to the choir's recent association and partnership with Merrimack College. "Having the chorus based at an institution of higher education has allowed the choir to grow both artistically and in the area of management."

"The invitation by Richard Santagati, the college's president, to have the choir rehearse, perform, and maintain their offices on campus has brought the Treble Chorus to a new level of national and international recognition."

She said the choir received rave reviews this past summer in Dresden and Leipzig, where the choir was the first American children's choir to perform in former Eastern Germany. The choir performed in three 800-year-old churches and, in Leipzig, sang for 300 guests (including the mayor of Leipzig) at the American Consulate on July 4th.

Members of the choir were the guests of honor of the Dresden Philharmonic Kinderchor and the Land Governor of Leipzig during the 15-day stay. The choir sang in the famous St. Nikolai Cathedral in Dresden, which was bombed in World War II in reprisal for the bombing of England's Canterbury Cathedral.

South School hosts annual sub supper

Parents and teachers prepared and served the subs to the South School community Wednesday, Sept. 25. First-grade parents provided desserts. The children enjoyed the music of Soundwaves with DJs Mark Outwin and Eric Teikin, and the new South School playground afterwards. The highlight of the evening was when the students gathered outside (at left) to dance the Macarena. A good time was had by all, organizers said.

WHAT'S UP

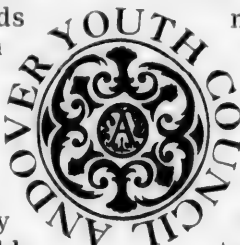

So, why do we need a van?

By Megan Gregg
Andover Youth
Council

"I'm sorry, but we just can't have any more kids on this field trip. We'll have to set up another trip for all the extra kids." These are some of the words that are often uttered when trying to plan youth activities in Andover. Why you may ask? Well, the reason simply is that we don't have the means of transportation to accommodate all the outside activities that the youth would like to participate in. Is there anything that can be done about this problem? Well there is now. The Andover Youth Council has decided to submit a warrant for the upcoming special town meeting, which will take place on Oct. 23.

This warrant requests funding that will go to purchase a van for the Andover Youth Services program. The van would help create so many more opportunities for the kids of this town to go on outings and be less limiting to how many kids are able to go at once. Is that the only reason that we need a van? No, of course not. A van is needed to take kids to all the different locations needed in order for them to come together and just have fun. This opportunity would be an outlet for kids to all be together and in a place where they are welcome. In essence we need this van in lieu of the fact that kids have no where to congregate in Andover. If they can't come together here in Andover, I don't think it's anyone's right to deny them an opportunity to go someplace else where they can express their common interests.

I think Andover can afford to splurge on the youth; I think that the youth here have been quite patient. They deserve something all to themselves. This

Great ideas, Great Books, great discussions

The Andover Great Books Reading and Discussion Group continues to meet on the second and/or fourth Tuesday of the month in the activity room at Memorial Hall Library on the lower level from 7:30-9 p.m.

All adults are welcome to join the discussions of the classics and outstanding contemporary works. There is no cost for the meetings. All readings are available in inexpensive paperbacks.

Most are also in local libraries.

According to Jean McGreehan, "A Great Books discussion is not a lecture or a class, but an opportunity to explore the ideas that shaped our society and continue to affect our lives - ideas like freedom, truth, and justice. We read works of literature, philosophy, religion, history, and political science not to learn about the past or to keep current but to learn more about ourselves - to challenge our own beliefs, assumptions, and principles."

"In the Great Books program we stress understanding and interpreting the assigned reading. What does the author mean? How do his or her ideas influence our values and behavior? We do not consider the author's life, the historical, social, or economic conditions that led to the book, or the opinions of critics. This way, everyone has an equal chance to participate. No special educational background is required, just a willingness to read the selection carefully, listen to others, and share our insight."

The Great Books Program is a national, non-profit organization. The regional affiliate, the New England Great Books Council, supports local discussion groups and sponsors its own regional discussion programs, including a weekend each spring and a week at Colby College in Maine each summer.

This year the Andover Great Books Group will read books chosen by its participants and probe interrelated questions of government, society, equality, civil disobedience, and man's reaction to adversity through the following complementary and contrasting readings (see box).

For further information about this group or the Great Books program, call Ms. McGreehan evenings and weekends at (508) 667-9610. To join the group or to sample a specific meeting, read the selection, twice if possible, and come on the assigned night. Schedules are available at the library.

PA to show The Gate of Heavenly Peace

Phillips Academy will show the award-winning documentary The Gate of Heavenly Peace Sunday, Oct. 20, at 3 p.m. A follow-up discussion with the film's creators will be held Monday, Oct. 21, at 8 p.m. Both events will be held in Kemper Auditorium on Chapel Avenue across from Andover Inn.

The three-hour documentary explores the complex political forces surrounding the pro-democracy protests in Tiananmen Square in the spring of 1989 and leading up to the massacre in Beijing June 4, 1989. The film was directed by Richard Gordon, a 1971 graduate of Phillips Academy, and his wife, Carma Hinton.

They spent six years investigating this story with an international group of scholars and participants in the 1989 events. More than 250 hours of historical and contemporary archival footage were collected and analyzed to construct the most complete and accurate picture to date of the events and their historical context.

Stephen Holden of The New York Times called The Gate of Heavenly Peace an "enthraling documentary film" that "probes much more deeply into the student democracy movement than one could have believed possible, given that the filmmakers are Americans... it is neither an anti-Communist tract nor a romantic valentine to the movement's fallen heroes. Above all, it is a hard-headed critical analysis of a youthful protest movement that failed and why."

HALLOWEEN EVENTS

Spooky Fun Fair back at Sanborn School

After taking last year off because of construction, the Sanborn PTO has announced that its Spooky Fun Fair is back and open to the public. The event will be held Saturday, Oct. 19, from 4 to 8 p.m. at Sanborn School. The night will be filled with a variety of things to do.

The Ghoulish Game Room features 13 different games for kids of all ages such as: Graveyard Golf, Haunted Hoops, Frankenball, Owl Tree, Pumpkin Patch, Ghoulish Hockey, Cake Walk and Monster Chairs.

Creepy Crafts has a Body-works section that includes temporary tattoos and face painting. You can also make Halloween pins, hats and pictures.

This year's Haunted House tradition continues as Sanborn fifth-graders and their parents design and execute this favorite attraction. It's guaranteed to be creepy and spooky, organizers said.

A raffle features a donated items including movie posters from the soon-to-be released Space Jam movie starring Michael Jordan and Bugs Bunny, and a Boston Celtics logo basketball with Larry Bird's autograph on it. Tickets are $5 for an arm's length of tickets for all items except the Larry Bird basketball, which is $5 a ticket.

A snack area will sell hot dogs, pizza, popcorn, drinks and other goodies.

Passes will be available at the door. A ghost pass (20 squares) is $5 and a Pumpkin pass (40 squares) is $10. These passes are good in the game room and craft areas (most games are only one or two squares). The Haunted House, food and game area will work on a cash basis.

Spooky Fun Fair is one of the largest PTO fundraisers for Sanborn. All proceeds benefit a variety of funds.

Andover Center Assn. will host Halloween ball downtown

The Andover Center Association will host a Halloween Costume Ball Friday, Oct. 25, from 7:30-10:30 p.m. in Old Town Hall. The event will include a DJ, refreshments, best-costume contest and raffle prizes, including a weekend in Boston and a photo shot with canvas portrait, other prizes and gift certificates. Tickets are $15 in advance or $20 at the door. All proceeds go toward the ACA Holiday open house in December.

Tickets can be purchased at Andover Video, Butler's Pantry, Crispin's Bears, Daher's Shoes, Daher's for Kids, Earthfood Store, Michelle's Boutique, Strawberry Tree, Underground Music and Victorian Treats.

Trick-or-treaters will be welcome downtown

Smolak Farms presents annual witch drama

Smolak Farm of North Andover opened its fourth annual "The Witches Next Door" A Haunted Harvest Tour last Friday, Oct. 11, at 7 p.m.

Performances continue Tuesdays through Sundays at 7 p.m., scheduled every half hour until 10 as wagons fill up. Tickets must be purchased in advance and can be bought at Smolak Farmstand, or by calling 687-4029 using Visa/MC.

"The Witches Next Door" is suggested for audiences at least 8 years old. Tickets are $10 Sunday through Thursday and $12 Saturday and Sunday. The show will go on unless there is a major wind- or rain storm.

"The Witches Next Door" is a live, history-based outdoor play about the witchcraft hysteria of 1692 in North Parish of Andover. Gary-Thomas Keating of Lawrence, a professional writer, actor/director, used research done for the North Andover Historical Society by Dee Liffmann and other sources.

The audience is guided by a professional actor/story teller on a 55-minute hayride. The tour starts at the circa 1885 barn and winds its way past scenes of the Prince of Darkness, a witch's coven fire and house, a dunking stool, stocks and pillory, a ghost or two, an angel, three burial grounds and a hanging site.

In the middle of the journey, playgoers are seated around a campfire and the storyteller returns as the ghost of Samuel Wardwell, one of the Andover damned.

Wardwell tells the story of what happened in Andover town in 1691-'92 that caused 48 men, women and children to be accused of witchcraft and three to be convicted and hanged for this serious crime.

He tells the fate of Andoverite Martha Allen Carrier, her accusers, her trial, conviction and execution. Lit by torchlight, her execution is recreated 50 feet from the audience.

A children's Halloween hayride for kids 5-10 year old will run Oct. 25-31 starting at 4 p.m. For more ticket information, call Smolak Farms tour office at 687-4029.

Lawrence Y holding Halloween party

The Lawrence YMCA, 40 Lawrence St., Lawrence, will host its 11th annual children's Halloween party Saturday, Oct. 26, from 2-5 p.m. This party for children of all ages and their families will include a costume contest, face painting, carnival games, clowns, a haunted house and refreshments. The cost is $3 for 20 tickets (most games are one ticket). For more information, call Frank Kenneally at 686-6191.

LGH, Kiwanis will sponsor Haunted House, Monster Bash

Lowell General Hospital will hold its Haunted House and Monster Bash Saturday, Oct. 26, from 4 to 8 p.m. on the hospital grounds. This event sponsored by LGH employees and the Kiwanis of Greater Lowell will provide a safe alternative to Halloween-night trick or treating.

The Haunted House will feature terrifying sights: creaking coffins, ghastly ghosts and venomous vampires. After enjoying this frightful sight, visitors can attend the Monster Bash, featuring Halloween music, tricks, treats and surprises. Halloween safety information chosen by the Shawsheen teachers, were realized. All the children of Shawsheen School participated. Every child at Shawsheen did a self-portrait back in June, and these were arranged around the base of the float. According to staff and parent marchers, many children along the parade route called out and waved as they recognized their picture. Older children, teens and even adults waved and shouted as they recognized their former school and teachers. Original music by music specialist Regina Stein and sung by Shawsheen students, played throughout the parade.

The highlight of the day, according to float committee members, was the standing ovation accorded the float by the review committee. Marchers called it "very touching"

Volksmarch offers four separate walks Saturday for Andover's 350th

The public is invited to join Girl Scouts of Spar and Spindle Girl Scout Council on a walk through historic Ballardvale. Local Girl Scouts and their leaders will be available along the way to share historical information and invite participation in period games.

Originating in Germany, a 'Volksmarch' is a people's walk or hike. It is not a guided tour, but rather an exploration of an interesting area or neighborhood done at one's own pace.

This is the fourth year the Spar and Spindle Girl Scouts have held a Volksmarch. Andover and North Andover troops offered to host this year's event in honor of the Andovers' 350th anniversary.

Participants will start at the Ballardvale railroad station, where maps will be given out between noon and 1:30 p.m. The one and one-half mile walk will highlight the 19th century industrial heart of Andover, where John and William Marland established the Ballardvale Manufacturing Co. and produced fine wool and flannel. It will also include the Ballardvale Fire Station, which is 100 years old this year, and the interesting residential architecture of High Vale Lane, on the National Register of Historic Places. In the late 1800s, Ballardvale was well known for leisure activities, including canoeing and dancing, and as the birthplace of skeet shooting. Volksmarch participants will be invited to play period games on Ballardvale Green.

Three other Volksmarch locations will also be open to the public on the same day. Mileage ranges from 0.75 to 2.25 miles.

A walk through historic downtown Andover and Academy Hill will begin at the Andover Historical Society's building on Main Street between 10 and 11:30 a.m. The walk through Old North Andover Center and its historic burying ground will begin at the Textile Museum on the common between 10 and 11:30 a.m. Beginning between noon and 1:30 p.m., hikers can explore the old trails and carriage roads of Weir Hill. A nature scavenger hunt will be offered. The entrance is on Stevens Street.

PA has faculty recital

The Phillips Academy music department will present a faculty recital Friday, Oct. 18, at 7:30 p.m. featuring cellist William Thomas, and pianist Christopher Walter. The program will include Beethoven's Sonata No. 3 in A Major for cello and piano, Bach's Cello Suite No. 5 in c minor, BWV 1011, Bruch's Kol nidre, Op. 47 for cello and piano and Mr. Thomas' arrangement for unaccompanied cello of the Negro spiritual Steal Away.

The concert will take place in the Timken Recital Room in Graves Hall located on the west side of 180 Main St. (Route 28), at the corner of School and Main streets. Access to the building is from School Street. The concert is free and open to the public. For more information, call 749-4263.

William Thomas, chairman of the music department at Phillips Academy from 1975-1990, is well-known on the North Shore and in the Boston areas as a cellist and conductor. Pianist Christopher Walter is chairman of the music department at Phillips Academy, where he teaches piano and music history, and co-directs the Academy Chorus.

Understanding Chiropractic

by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

YOUR EMOTIONAL-WELL-BEING

Anyone who has ever felt his or her neck and shoulder muscles tighten in response to a stressful situation can tell you that emotions can effect unwelcome physical changes. When we are fearful or angry, we tend to contract the shoulders and lower the head. When this posture is taken to the extreme, it can bring about increased tension, torque, or stretching of the nerve structures which, in turn, can cause muscles to move the vertebrae out of alignment in adaptive response. While chiropractic treatment may not be the answer for emotional disorders, it can help us achieve a state of good mental health by removing the internal stresses. This helps to relieve the body of tension and aids us in better adapting to external pressures. By breaking the vicious cycle of emotional pressure, subluxation, and pain, chiropractic helps patients achieve emotional well-being.

At DeLORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, we are genuinely interested in your good health and progress. We believe in preventive care. Safe and gentle chiropractic care not only restores health, it builds health. Stop suffering needlessly, call 475-5042 to schedule an appointment. We care about our patients - and it shows. The purpose of our office, located at 15 Central Street, is to support each individual in achieving his or her optimum health.

P.S. Muscular tension can contribute to a localized subluxation (vertebral misalignment), which can become a major problem if left uncorrected.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Richard D. Hopgood, D.M.D.

MEDICAL HISTORY CONCERN

When dental patients are asked to submit their medical histories, they should approach the task as diligently as if they were in the offices of their general physicians. The fact is that many medical conditions and medications can have an effect upon oral health. For instance, some steroids, antihypertensives, and antidepressants can cause changes in blood pressure during stressful oral-surgery procedures. Patients who have heart murmurs or artificial heart valves may require antibiotics before any dental treatment. Women who take oral contraception may find that they are more prone to gum disease. For these and other reasons, patients should be careful to provide the dentist and dental assistants with the most comprehensive look at their medical histories in order that serious problems can be anticipated and averted.

As part of your health care team, we are concerned about all aspects of your health - one important reason why we need to know your complete medical history. At the same time, if a medical condition is discovered during a dental exam, you can be sure we will share that information with you as well as any other health care provider you choose. You are our number one priority here at 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133, with easy access off Rt 93, and we pledge to do our best to make you and your family comfortable during all visits. PH: 475-2431

P.S. Even a seemingly harmless over-the-counter medication like aspirin can impact dental procedures because it interferes with the blood's ability to clot.

Baptist church to recreate T.A. Holt country store for Andover's 350th

By Rev. Thomas Goldthwaite
Andover Baptist Church

When the Andover Baptist Church was under construction in 1833, the plan was simple and adequate to the needs of a newly formed congregation. Before it was done, it had doubled in cost and become a far more elaborate building expressing the longings of the people to have a memorial unto God. In order to help pay the $12,000-plus in construction costs, the basement level was leased to a series of dry goods stores, which continued in operation until about 1920.

The name T.A. Holt hung proudly over the Central Street door for many of those years. Horse-drawn delivery wagons were often seen pulling away from the building. Some of the recent "Old Andover" photos that have been circulating during this year's 350th celebration depict the T.A. Holt Store beneath the Baptist church.

On Friday evening and Saturday morning, Oct. 18 and 19, Andover Baptist Church will recreate the "Country Store" on the lower level of the church. The "T.A. Holt" sign will hang once again above the door. Inside, handmade items will be on sale, and a historic atmosphere will add to the festivities.

It will be open tomorrow, Friday, from 7-9 p.m. The barber-shop quartet Melodies & Memories from Nashua, N.H. will sing around the store starting at 7:30.

Costumed sales clerks will greet the customers, and tours of the church and some of its historical collection will be an option.

Hand-quilted items (lap quilts, doll bed coverings, wall-hangings, and jewelry, etc.) will be featured in one area; woodworking (toys, bird houses, household items, and novelties) in another.

Knitted sweaters, aprons, placemats, Christmas ornaments and much more will be available. Cheese, apples, and preserves, along with an assortment of baked goods, and deep-dish apple pie will be on sale.

350th

It opens Saturday at 8 a.m. and will continue until 2 p.m. A display of old-fashioned wool-carding, spinning, and weaving will be the special activity in the Robinson Hall.

Lunch of hot dogs or hot chicken sandwiches will be available as well.

Antique store items will be displayed, giving the "Country Store" the feel of Old Andover.

The store replaces the usual Fall Fair, adding to the year-long celebration of the town's 350th birthday.

The public is invited to come in and browse.

The church is located at 7 Central St.

Lecturer, poet Danny Siegel coming to town

Danny Siegel, author, lecturer, poet and humorist, has been chosen to be the Bernice and Thayer Warshaw Distinguished Visitors' speaker at Temple Emanuel of Andover during the weekend of Oct. 18-20. There will be a wide range of activities, beginning with an interfaith Clergy Institute luncheon on Friday. Mr. Siegel will speak on "Fixing a Broken World: The Jewish Approach," and show how the Hebrew Scripture defines our role in repairing an often broken world.

At the congregation's regular Friday evening service at 8:15, Mr. Siegel will address the theme, "What Do Bruce Springsteen, Liz Taylor and Paul Newman Know About Mitzvahs, We Don't Know?"

On Saturday evening there will be a deli-supper and Havdalah (observing the end of the Sabbath) discussion entitled, "Eleven Things We can Do to Change the World in Big Ways." The program is open to people of all ages.

On Sunday morning, the parents of the Religious School students will hear a talk on "What Do We Want Our Kids (and Ourselves) to be when We Grow Up?"

Mr. Siegel is the author of more than 20 books for children and adults. He has devoted his life to inspiring individuals to become "Mitzvah Heroes," literally, advocates for fulfilling the divine call of bringing kindness and justice into the darkest corners of the world. He has traveled the United States and abroad, supporting grassroots projects, helping the most forgotten members of society. His stories are evocative, heartwarming, and mostly inspiring.

All programs, with the exception of the Saturday evening supper (which requires advance reservations), are free and open to the public.

Call Temple Emanuel at 470-1356.

Celebrating Over 40 Years of Excellence
At Greater Lawrence Technical School students are provided with technical training in a field of their choice. The future always looks bright for our graduates because they enter the work force with the hands-on training required by employers. Many students participate in Co-Op programs where they earn money working in an entry level job while learning academic material and classwork on the other week.

We are proud to say that over the past thirty years, the majority of our graduates have gone into their field of choice right after graduation. Others have continued their training in college.

FINAL EMBRACE

Do we fear death so completely, and understand it so little that we would consider it a travesty to suggest that we should embrace it as part of life? Many of us confront our other fears in hopes of understanding and overcoming our responses to them. Why not apply this same reasonable attitude toward what may be regarded as the greatest and most universal of fears? As Eugene Ionesco once proposed: "Since the death instinct exists in the heart of everything that lives, since we suffer from trying to repress it, since everything that lives longs for rest, let us unfasten the ties that bind us to life, let us cultivate our death wish, let us develop it, water it like a plant, let it grow unhindered. Suffering and fear are born from the repression of the death wish." By following Ionesco's entreaties, acceptance rises out of repression.

Pre-arrangement simply means giving prior consideration to funeral needs, with budget and type of service in mind. It prompts a healthy consideration of the subject of death. It answers many questions for those who must make final decisions and generally results in a family spending less money. For more information about pre-arrangement, call BURKE FUNERAL HOME at 475-5200 or see us at 350 North Main Street. We help with insurance problems and can help to facilitate the payment of Veterans Benefits.

Traffic changes at Frontage/Osgood streets

By Don Staruk

Lt. Phillip Froburg, operations commander at the Andover Police Department, is advising motorists who use Osgood Street of some significant changes at the intersection with Frontage Road.

Cars headed north on Frontage Road to Osgood Street no longer have to go around the traffic island and stop before bearing left on Osgood.

That section of Frontage to Osgood is now two-way, so cars going northbound on Frontage and southbound on Osgood can go straight through without stopping.

The lane that formerly was used to get to Osgood from the stop sign on Frontage at the traffic island has been removed. This means cars coming out of the short end of Osgood, from the Professional Center for Handicapped Children, will join traffic on Frontage Road coming out of Raytheon, and both will have a stop sign at Osgood and Frontage before proceeding on Frontage.

Still, no right turn is allowed from the north end of Frontage, coming from Raytheon or the Professional Center, onto Osgood.

The changes, which will be temporary at first, are being made to try to reduce the number of accidents that occur as traffic going around the island cuts across the traffic coming out of Raytheon, according to Lt. Froburg.

"We're doing it on a trial basis," Lt. Froburg said.

If the changes improve traffic flow and reduce the number of accidents, police will petition selectmen to make the changes permanent.

Jay Leno visits his hometown

Mr. Leno said he is enjoying his success.

"It's all pretty good," he said of the lifestyle that comes with being late-night TV's favorite laugh inducer.

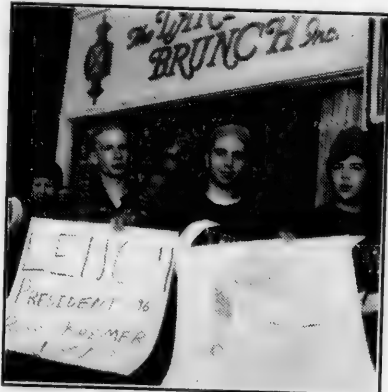

Then he turned sarcastic, adding, "Actually, I hate all the money. The money's bad."

Mr. Leno arrived at the bookstore around noon and was greeted by cheers from fans and hugs from old friends, including several from his graduating class, Andover High School, 1968.

It was clear early on that he would probably sign for longer than the two hours scheduled. By the time he arrived, the line for an autographed copy of Leading with My Chin had already snaked from the bookstore to Main Street, and then almost entirely around the large municipal parking lot.

Andover Bookstore staff had to stop new people from entering the line in the early afternoon because they knew Mr. Leno would never be able to sign so many books.

It's a good thing they did stop the line. Otherwise, by the time Mr. Leno finished signing he might have had to rename the book Leading with My Double Chin.

Adam Rollfs, Prospect Road, from left, Kevin Chenery, Dascomb Road, and Randy Romano, Spring Grove Road, arrived at 4 a.m. for the book-signing.

Randy Romano, Kevin Chenery and Adam Rollfs, Andover High students and the first people in line, all made sure they would get their copies of Mr. Leno's book.

"We came here at 4 a.m. We slept on the pavement," said Mr. Chenery, of Dascomb Road.

"It was about 25 to 30 degrees, real cold. (We had) no sleeping bags, mind you," said Mr. Romano, of Spring Grove Road.

"Our objective was to come first."

After signing books for some of his old friends and others with connections, Mr. Leno greeted the students at about 12:45 p.m.

"Nice to know you can read. Thank you very much," said Mr. Leno.

The young men showed him the posters they had made and offered him a tape of the Andover High School talent show.

"Oh, boy. I would loooove to look at that. That's one thing I don't get enough of," he said.

Meanwhile, those waiting in line indicated they can't get enough of Mr. Leno.

Richard D'Agostino of Lawrence was in line for his daughter, Diana, who would be home from college the next day for her birthday.

"Anyone who would eulogize his father on national TV is worthy of waiting for," said Mr. D'Agostino, who arrived at 8 a.m. "Around 9:30 a.m. we weren't too thrilled we got here so early, but now we are."

"It's nice to have a socialite who comes from Andover," said Anne Collins of Ballardvale Road. "He seems to care for the people of Andover."

As of around 3:15 p.m., the last person in line was Marblehead's Kristin Carrahan, who works in Andover.

"I have been dying for this because I'm getting this for my brother and he lives in Zurich, Switzerland," she said. "He's a huge fan. He's gets his show a day later and (when we visit) we always have to watch it."

Even those close to Mr. Leno were impressed with the turnout.

Mr. Leno's wife, Mavis, showed up around 2 p.m., but seemed to realize Mr. Leno would be there for quite some time and eventually decided to leave again.

"It's amazing. I still live where I grew up, in Los Angeles, and I don't know a soul," said Mavis Leno. "I always wondered what it would be like to grow up in a small town and I can see the advantages."

"One of his friends was saying, 'Everyone you know is here.' This is way more people than he knows," she said.

That may have been because people came from all over. Kentucky's Tracy Clements, a student at Augusta State University, happened to be in the area Sunday and wanted Mr. Leno's autograph.

"Your arm tired yet?" she asked.

Jay Leno smiles at his Andover High School classmate, Andover Police Lt. Phillip Froburg, while his friend, Bernice Haggerty, right, and an unidentified reporter from the TV program, Entertainment Tonight, look on inside the Andover Bookstore. Mr. Leno signed copies of his book, Leading With My Chin, while a large crowd some estimated at 1,500 stood outside and inside the store, waiting for a chance to see the famous Andover native.

Photos by Lisa Adelsberger

Jay Leno's senior prom photo from Andover High School with his date, Claudia Dengler, which he described as "dorky-looking," was on the mantel over the fireplace at Andover Bookstore Sunday during the book-signing event. Other pictures are early photos of bookstore employees.

Will Broadus was freelancing for Boston Magazine at the Jay Leno signing in Andover Sunday, but Mr. Broadus has other connections with Andover. He grew up here, went to Brooks School in North Andover (and then Yale) and spent his summers working at the Andover Bookstore. A spokeswoman from Boston Magazine said this week she doesn't know if the magazine will run a story on Jay Leno.

A Jay-walk down memory lane

By Neil Fater

In a book in which he admits to terrorizing an Andover teacher by faking his suicide and talks about all the bullet holes in his old Boston apartment, one would think Jay Leno would have exhausted his supply of stories.

But when asked at his Andover book signing if there were any overlooked anecdotes he wished he had included in Leading with My Chin, Mr. Leno said, "There's a bunch we didn't put in."

Asked the same question, Mr. Leno's close friend, Bernice Haggerty, laughed, "I'm sure there are going to be lots of things that are left out."

So, to feed those starving for more Leno stories, we asked Jay's former classmates, teachers and friends for some of their most memorable moments with Andover's stand-up celebrity.

Louise Hall McKallagat, of Lovejoy Road, remembers when she was 10 years old and a photographer took her class picture. She and Jay were in teacher Earl Simon's class.

"I remember this vividly. We were all just posing. I was sitting there with my hands folded, all behaved. Then, there was this big ruckus in the back," she said. "Mr. Simon was trying to calm Jay down for the picture."

Apparently he didn't succeed. The photo, on page 51 of Jay's book, shows little Jay Leno in the back row pumping his fist. Behind him one can make out the partially obscured figure of Mr. Simon.

What did the class think when they saw the picture?

"Oh well, that's Jay," said Ms. McKallagat. "We weren't too surprised."

Steve Gesing, the president of Mr. Leno's Andover High School class, brought another interesting photo to Sunday's book signing.

It was a photo of the undefeated Ballardvale Browns, Mr. Leno's sixth-grade football team.

"Coach said, 'Look tough.' And there's Leno," said Mr. Gesing, pointing to the only smiling face in a desert of scowling pussies.

Martha Walsh, an elementary-school teacher who had Mr. Leno during her first year out of college, also has plenty of fond memories of the hyperactive host. "Today that's probably what they would call him - hyperactive. But they're the ones who add the sparkle to the class," she said. "They didn't know about that (term) back then."

Was Mr. Leno one of her most wild students?

"For those times probably, yes. But today, no, by comparison," said Ms. Walsh, who now teaches at Sanborn. "He was the most active, he was lively, but he was humorous. Today, they'd be more disrespectful."

Now, let's fast forward to Mr. Leno's High School years. Many of Mr. Leno's friends seem to remember driving around in his Buick, and then, when he got a job at Foreign Motors after high school, in more expensive cars.

Jean Maher, who now lives on Cape Cod with her husband, Bob, recalls one ride in particular. Ms. Maher had been busy cleaning the house all day when Mr. Leno showed up with a Rolls Royce. Although she was filthy Laura Hillard and Debbie Hillard, of Methuen, and Audrey Poole of Andover, hold a Man & Machine calendar. Ms. Poole's son, David, of Burbank, Calif., is pictured on the front of the calendar and she brought it to Jay Leno to have him sign it, since he's a motorcycle fan too. Debbie Hillard (center) is Ms. Poole's daughter and Laura Hillard is her granddaughter (Debbie's daughter). Ms. Poole says her son is a Chipendale dancer and stripper and that he models and acts on television.

Sunday was definitely Jay Day in Andover. His famous face was everywhere.

from cleaning, Mr. Leno insisted she come with him. "So he drove me all up and down Main Street sitting in a Rolls Royce, waving," she said. "Dirty knees, and I get into the back of a silver Rolls Royce."

Because Jay dated Bob and Jean Maher's daughter, Debbie, the Maher family has plenty of tidbits about the Tonight Show star. In fact, when Mr. Leno caught sight of Mr. Maher in the bookstore Sunday he yelled out, "I was going out with his daughter. He'd be a millionaire now, but he threw me out of the house!"

"My dad was always running him off (saying,) 'That damn Leno!' Of course, my mother loved him," confirmed Debbie Maher.

"I never really threw him out," Bob Maher said in his own defense. "It was a constant story with him every day. He was always in."

"Jay was in my house every day," agreed Jean Maher. "We had a chalk board on our kitchen wall and every day he'd write 'Leno is cool.' It would get erased and he'd write it again the next morning."

"It was a friendly little thing going to see who could do the most," said Bob Maher. "We had a picture of Debra. He didn't like it so he turned it to the wall every time he came in and I turned it back."

Perhaps because of such humorous antics, Mr. Leno developed a reputation that often preceded him - even in elementary school.

Lyn Deyermond Hemminger remembers when redistricting brought her and Mr. Leno to the same school.

"That first day people had reputations from other schools," she said from her Ohio home.

Jay Leno "and others that I'm sure are in prison now, had reputations," she joked.

"I remember seeing Jay the first day of school at South. I was curious about him for some reason - probably the chin. He was an interesting character even then," said Ms. Hemminger. "It's still hard for me to believe that Jay is so famous. I have actually paid to see his comedy act. If you had asked me 25 years ago if I would pay money to see Jay Leno on stage, I would have laughed at you!"

Maybe that's because just about 25 years ago, the then-Lyn Deyermond and Mr. Leno were sitting in garbage cans together. Both had been voted "funniest" by their senior class and had to pose for a yearbook photo.

"One day after school they interrupted cheerleading practice and said, 'Do something funny.' So we sat in the garbage cans because there wasn't anything funny around to do," said Ms. Hemminger.

That photo not only appeared in the yearbook, but has since appeared in Leading with My Chin and a couple of national magazines.

"His wife knows me as the woman in the garbage can - which isn't very flattering," said Ms. Hemminger.

Yet, while Mavis Leno may know Ms. Hemminger as the garbage-can woman, Ms. Hemminger remembers Mr. Leno for being there in a time of need.

"I had a very serious illness in 1989. I had not seen Jay in a few years and he called the hospital a few times to lend emotional support," said Ms. Hemminger. "That is the kind of guy he is and it is no surprise he is beloved by the TV audience."

Ms. Hemminger is not alone in her assessment. Several friends told stories about how Mr. Leno called them or family members when they were sick. Other classmates talked about how gracious he is when people go to California and about how he never seems to get an inflated ego.

Some people in line mentioned how Mr. Leno had helped with a Ballardvale playground, and teachers talked about how Mr. Leno had helped with Andover High scholarships. For instance, every year a business student receives the A.J. Leno scholarship named after Mr. Leno's late father, Angelo.

But despite what Mr. Leno has done for his friends and the town, one Andover High teacher, Joanne Samra, can't get him to do just one simple thing for her.

"All these years I'm trying to get him to call me by my first name. I said, 'When are you going to call me Joanne?'"

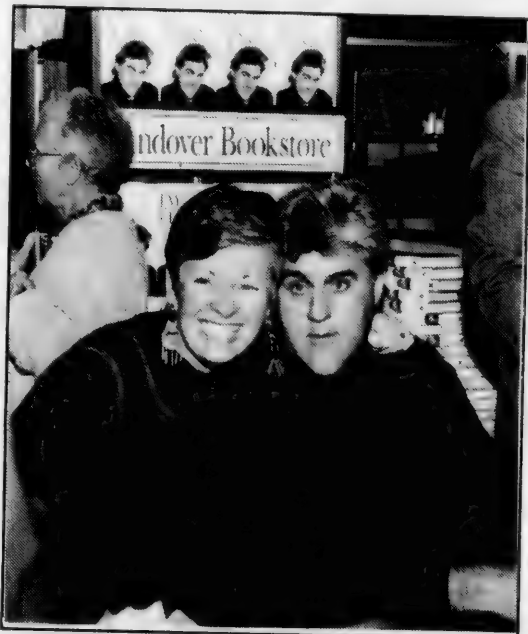

For whatever reason, Mr. Leno can't bring himself to call his former teacher anything but "Miss Samra."

And some of Mr. Leno's closest friends can't bring themselves to share any of their best stories. They don't want to do anything that might hurt their friend.

"Jay's never changed. He's just genuine. He loves people," said Ms. Walsh, his fourth-grade teacher. "He's as loyal to his friends as they are to him."

"It was a great group of friends. We always kept in touch to this day," said Nancy Haggerty Varnum, whose mother, Bernice, and sister, Joan Pelletier, were there for Jay's first Tonight Show.

"Jay's a very special guy. This didn't happen over night. He worked very hard and he deserves all the success," said Ms. Varnum.

Joan Pelletier of North Andover, daughter of Bernice Haggerty of Andover, gets a Jay hug.

Valerie Wells and Marcie Lutsch, both class of '95 at Andover High School, hope to get Jay Leno to autograph their bags of Doritos. They also brought with them a tape made by Jim Landry of Andover, whose band is called Purge. They talked a reporter from Entertainment Tonight into giving the tape to Mr. Leno, hoping he might use it on the Tonight Show.

Sean Gresh and Laura Marino, owner of the Sassy Radish, were able to get six books signed by Jay Leno. One book Mr. Gresh had signed for one of his clients, John Rando, a VP at Digital, with whom Mr. Gresh had worked on a speech that included, "I'm not Jay Leno."

Coburn Benson backs his 1908 Stanley Steamer into the parking spot closest to Andover Bookstore. Jay Leno used to frequent Mr. Benson's motorcycle shop in Haverhill. And Mr. Leno also owns a Stanley Steamer.

Go to Special Town Meeting

In case you don't remember, Andover has no quorum requirement for Town Meeting or Special Town Meeting. Therefore, if you care about any of the 16 articles on the warrant for the Oct. 23 Special Town Meeting, better show up, or forever hold your peace. The meeting is at West Middle School on Shawsheen Road, at 7 p.m.

Selectmen are expected to withdraw the article that proposes spending $6 million to extend the town's sewer system to the Sunset Rock/Spring Grove roads area. Because none of us have had enough time to understand the implications of that article, we believe it should be withdrawn at this time, and brought up again at the Annual Town Meeting in April. That will give officials and voters five months to study it. Questions we have, for instance, are: Why sewer that area and not others? And what implications does sewerage have on our goal of maintaining open space?

The most complicated article voters will face next Wednesday is the proposal to amend the town's contract with the trash-to-energy plant in North Andover. Voters will decide if they want to amend that contract to stabilize higher costs at a set rate for the next 10 years or extend the contract for an additional 10 years and pay a slightly lower set rate. The selectmen are expected to support whatever Public Works Director Bob McQuade recommends on that article. Good luck to all of us on making that decision!

There's an article that asks us to spend $28,000 to purchase a van for youth activities. Youth Services is expected to share that van with senior citizens. We recommend a yes on that one.

Four articles on the warrant, 5-8, address growth. Article 8 requests $20,000 to hire a consultant to study the growth issue. Those are important articles.

The article amending the zoning bylaw to allow assisted-living facilities in residential areas is important too. Read Council on Aging Chairman Marty Epstein's letter on the next page. Andover needs to work hard to ensure its senior citizens are able to remain living here. We'd like to see as many assisted-living units as possible here.

See you Wednesday.

FLU SHOTS: Dr. Daniel Coleman, right, a pulmonary specialist, laughs at Deputy Fire Chief Chuck Murnane as he anticipates receiving his flu shot. The town will hold a flu clinic Thursday, Oct. 24, in Doherty Middle School cafeteria from 3:30 to 6 p.m. A Medicare B health insurance number is requested for the town's reimbursement purposes. Registration forms are available at the Senior Center, Memorial Hall Library, health department and other town locations. Although pre-registration is not mandatory, fill out the form and bring it the day of the clinic. The clinic is free. Enter the rear doors of the cafeteria. No entrance will be allowed at the front or side doors of the school. Doherty School is located on Bartlet Street, adjacent to town offices. Participants should not arrive before 3 p.m. since school will be in session. For more information, call the health department at 623-8295.

We're open to new ideas at the Townsman

By Perry Colmore

This newspaper is like this town: It's really yours. You have a say in what we do here at the Townsman. From time to time, we like to try new things in the newspaper, some that we suggest, others that we want to try.

Save This Date!

Have you noticed our new, very short column, Save This Date! That was my idea because at this time of year, my calendar begins to fill up and there's so much I want to do I like to know in advance what to pencil into my Daily Reminder. Save This Date! will run in the entertainment or social pages, and appropriate items for it are one-line notices of events that are usually quite a long way off. The notices aren't the final story you'll see in the Townsman about the event. Think of them as a placeholder. We'll be interested to see if you like this new feature.

Community Calendar

Save This Date! is sort of the cousin of the Community Calendar that the Townsman keeps. The purpose of that long-term calendar is for organizations that are planning a community event to send in an item to the Townsman, or to phone and check to see if any other major event already is scheduled for that date. Call me at 475-1943 if you'd like to list something on the Community Calendar. It's not printed in the paper, it's just a listing for organizations to check for future schedulings of events. We hope it helps organizations avoid scheduling events on the same date.

Community Spirit

Speaking of community, the Townsman is preparing to make its second Community Spirit Award, either in late December or early January. Nominations come from you, our readers, who are the eyes and ears of the community.

Last year, Norma Gammon, chairwoman of the 350th Committee, won the award.

Our judges are a panel of distinguished community members: former State Rep. Susan Tucker; Rabbi Robert Goldstein of Temple Emanuel; community activist Freddy Fitzgerald who has served on many Andover committees; Andrew Gully, managing editor for news at the Boston Herald; and Ellen Parker, principal of Andover High School. They were the judges last year and all agreed to serve again this year.

Criteria for the award:

The Community Spirit Award will be given to an organization or individual who has done something

A vote for Finegold

Editor, Townsmen:

My family has lived in Andover for many years. Although the town's population has grown considerably during this time, mostly all of us agree that Andover still retains its small-town charm.

But if Andover is to continue along its present path of prosperity, serious issues must be faced. We need to maintain the high standards of our public schools. We need to continue the effort to slow residential growth by purchasing more land for conservation.

And we need to keep taxes as low as possible, so that whether you're my age or a child growing up in Andover, we can all still afford to live here in the future.

These issues are what make this year's November election so important. Our community needs a state representative who understands what people in Andover care about and who will do something about it. That's why my family is voting for Barry Finegold.

Barry was educated in our public schools. He's coached many of our children in the community's youth sports programs. In his service as a selectman, he's proven himself to be someone who keeps his promises and who works hard on the issues that really matter to the people of Andover.

From our family to yours, we respectfully ask that you consider Barry Finegold for state representative on Tuesday, Nov. 5.

extraordinary for the town or for individuals in town.

The purpose of the award is to recognize individuals and groups that reach out to different groups or people in town.

To be eligible, the organization, the service delivered, or the individual has to be Andover-based. The award might be given to a person or organization that might not be as well known as some others in town and is not necessarily making a fuss about the service being rendered.

Other criteria:

- Impact of service;
- Creativity and uniqueness of service;
- Selfless spirit of giver of service;
- Energy level of giver of service;
- The service filled a unique need, or is a unique solution to a common problem, improved the quality of life here.

If you nominated someone last year who didn't win, you might like to try you just do the job you were privileged to get? Will you work hard and distinguish yourself as an Andover selectman?

We hired you to perform a sizable yet specific task. You were to serve us as representative at selectmen meetings. We trusted you to make it your focus.

Yet today, you're running again. Are you oblivious to your duties? Why are you standing in the square campaigning? Shouldn't you be attending to the business facing our town?

Why isn't the High School finished? What about South School? All these unreconciled issues remain on your initial watch. Now you stump for another job. Why?

Is your record so lush with accomplishment that you feel deserving of our trust for a higher post? Are you comfortable with what you've done so far?

For God's sake, man, finish something. Do something. Then you can press for a promotion. As of now? The book is open. There's not much there to admire or brag about.

You're just another ambitious junior guy with no real experience. No wonder voters are so cynical of career politicians.

The Massachusetts state Legislature is a harsh battleground overpopulated with bright, articulate operators. You ask us to send you in there as our voice?

You can't be serious!

Settle down. Do a good job here in town. In a few years come back. Get some real life under your belt. Beacon Hill is no place for a wide-eyed junior guy.

Downtown Andover

Today we're publishing the second part of our series on downtown Andover. If you'd like to suggest an addition to the series, phone me or reporter Don Staruk at 475-1943. All of us understand the importance of a vital and varied downtown. What we're trying to learn is how important is the downtown to all of us, what do we think Andover's downtown needs, and what are we willing to do to see that we fulfill its needs.

What about downtown traffic?

Editor, Townsmen:

More traffic for downtown?

Changes may be coming for Andover's downtown. A parking garage? More retail? More traffic? Longer waits at stop lights? More circuitous routes?

The Oct. 10 article on Andover's downtown suggests business owners are conspiring to improve their lot without addressing traffic congestion on Main Street. The article waxes romantically about our "treasure of a downtown," but I have yet to acquire an appreciation for the aroma of fumes emitted by cars stopped in traffic.

Rather than ignoring the problem, maybe it's time Andover makes plans to handle the increased flow on Route 28. The capacity of Main Street can be increased by allowing two lanes of traffic in each direction or by diverting traffic in one direction around Andover center.

The article asks readers to visualize a Main Street in which the Olde Andover Village parking lot has been replaced by a string of retail stores and a multilevel parking garage. Yes, I think I can see it. The buildings, the parking garage, roads full with cars, and none of them moving. This is progress?

Cheerleading is a sport

Editor, Townsmen:

At the first home football game one of the cheerleaders, while practicing during half-time, fell from a mount. Immediately, football parents were coming up to me telling me the cheerleaders shouldn't be doing these stunts.

Unsigned letters

And finally, I want to say something AGAIN about unsigned letters and notes. I had another one this week, signed by "A Concerned Parent." We get more unsigned letters from parents than anyone else. Parents say they don't want to use their names because a teacher, coach or school administrator will take it out on their child. For the most part, we don't buy that explanation. In fact, we think that sets a bad example for your children, who should learn that anything worth talking about or advocating for is worth taking a risk by using one's name. So we urge "Concerned Parents" and other anonymous writers to re-consider. Use your name. Straighten up your backbone, think through your premise and stand by your reasoning. In the same way that we all have to learn to disagree without becoming disagreeable, we need to learn to spell out our beliefs and advocate for them, using our name.

"Someone could really get hurt." "They need strong boys to hold them up." "I am more frightened for the cheerleaders than the football players in the field." These were just some of the comments. For the record, the cheerleader that fell is fine. Rumors had her in two casts with broken wrists - not!

Cheerleading is a sport. Forty-two girls tried out for the 14 spots on the squad. The best were picked. They were chosen for their athletic abilities (gymnastics skills, dance skills, basing and flying), not because they were cute or looked good in a skirt.

The cheerleaders work hard at their sport. They practice every day with the help of trained coaches, just like any other sport at Andover High. Accidents happen in any sport. At one of the football games a few weeks ago, one of the football players was hurt. I didn't see anybody going up to the coach telling him not to do that play again.

My point is that accidents do happen in every sport. People need to see the cheerleaders as athletes and cheerleading as a sport. They are not at the game to "just look pretty," they are an athletic squad doing their sport.

Save two trees at PA

Editor, Townsmen:

I am Alex Thorn and I am trying to save two trees at Phillips Academy from being cut down. See, some people think that they block the view of a building (Draper Hall, recently renovated), so they are going to cut them down. I think that is horrible because each tree is about 200 years old. I think that the trees are the view and that it is stupid to cut them down. They are almost like memorials because that is what Phillips Academy is partly known for, old and beautiful trees. The problem is that I need some publicity. Could you maybe put something in the paper for me? The trees are the best thing about Phillips Academy and I want to save the trees.

Please help.

Support assisted-living warrant article

Editor, Townsmen:

The Council on Aging unanimously and enthusiastically supports the proposed elderly housing warrant article.

In addition to assisted living residences, the article covers congregate living residences and long-term care facilities.

The article:

- Guarantees that affordable housing will be a component of all future elderly housing facilities for low- and moderate-income seniors;

Assisted-living article

- Gives Andover residents preference; and
- Sets standards and guidelines for future development and construction.

This warrant article makes it possible for Andover residents to maintain their community friendships and social supports in their later years. Assisted living is an attractive alternative to nursing homes for those who need a level of care beyond that available in their own home.

Because elderly housing is of considerable importance to the seniors in Andover, I have attended all the Planning Board meetings on this subject over the last six months. I believe that the hard work of the Planning Board has resulted in a zoning bylaw which is good for the seniors and good for Andover, without creating insurmountable obstacles to building assisted-living facilities in our town. This warrant article may be the benchmark for all other communities in Massachusetts to follow. I urge all Andover residents to join us in supporting this article.

A vote for John Kerry

Editor, Townsmen:

I am voting for John Kerry for two reasons.

1. He has a reasonable and responsible record as a U.S. Senator ... some seniority too, an asset for the state.

2. Weld has been a good governor. I voted for him for governor. If he goes to Washington, we lose him and his talents in the state. And we get a very uncertain replacement.

So, I am voting for John Kerry for U.S. senator.

John Kerry supports our education system

Editor, Townsmen:

In today's new global economy, education is more important than ever before. It is the engine which will drive our economy forward into the next millennium. The candidates for the U.S. Senate race have vastly different views as to how to improve public education. Gov. William Weld proposed a $43 million cut in state K-12 spending for the 1996/1997 budget and he vetoed $190 million in emergency education aid in 1992. Fortunately, the Legislature has prevented these Draconian measures from coming to fruition.

On the other hand Senator John Kerry has successfully fought in the Senate to restore $2.7 billion of the Gingrich-led House cuts, including $137 million to Head Start; $815 million for Title I; $200 million for Safe and Drug Free Schools; $182 million for School-to-Work programs; and $60 million for Goals 2000 restructuring funding. Please note that the latter program helps to provide the resources to purchase essential materials including grants to help every public school access the Internet. (Under Gov. Weld, Massachusetts ranks 49th amongst the 50 states in getting its schools networked, and 39th in the number of computers per classroom.)

In the realm of higher education, Gov. Weld vetoed a $19 million increase in state higher education funding last year and proposed cutting another $30 million this year. He vetoed two student loan programs and vetoed $23 million in state student scholarship programs. Under Gov. Weld's tenure, tuitions and fees at public colleges and universities rose to the fourth highest in the nation.

Senator Kerry has fought to restore $90 million in Gingrich-led cuts in federal student loans and grants, and helped block $4.9 billion of GOP cuts to other student loan programs. In addition, Sen. Kerry has introduced legislation that will allow families to take a $10,000 tax deduction on tuitions and loans for higher education, and make interest on student loans tax deductible.

The differences between the two Senate candidates are compelling. Senator Kerry understands that investing in education is the soundest way to improve the standard of living of Americans over the long term. While Gov. Weld thinks that tax breaks and reduced regulations are the answer to maximizing productivity. In reality corporations will invest in order to obtain both well trained-highly skilled problem-solvers and to obtain low taxes in a low wage and unregulated environment. If, as Gov. Weld believes, tax breaks and deregulations are the answer, then we will be competing with Honduras and the Philippines. The jobs which require a substantial investment in public education will allow us to compete with the Japanese and Europeans for global capital.

Another point to consider is that if we reduce the opportunities for middle- and low-income students to attend colleges and universities as Gov. Weld proposes, then we will further damage the economy of Massachusetts with its numerous colleges and universities and the tens of thousands of students they attract. Senator Kerry understands this fact and that is why he supports tax deductions on tuitions and loans for higher education.

Clearly, Senator Kerry understands that in the new global economy of today education is our greatest resource. We need a U.S. Senator who is a strong supporter of public education to help lead our nation into the 21st century. I believe that John Kerry is that person.

She supports Jim Fox, her dad

Editor, Townsmen:

A personal profile on Jim Fox - my dad: People who know Jim Fox know he doesn't pull any punches. In computer parlance he'd be referred to as WYSIWYG (what-you-see-is-what-you-get), so you might call him a WYSIWYG candidate. He is not a career politician.

He has no hidden agenda nor does he harbor any aspirations to make the representative seat a platform to the next political level. What is he if not a politician? He's imaginative and creative, a free thinker.

He's a man of action who believes in doing it, not just talking about it.

Dad has many passions - books and gardening to name a couple - but devotion to family has always been the driving force within him.

He taught us to be adventurous and instilled curiosity. He answered the "How do you..." questions with real life experiences - beekeeping, making maple syrup, making candles from bayberries picked on the Cape, making apple cider, root-beer, and most memorable, wine from grapes he had grown. (I still remember feeling like Lucille Ball, stomping grapes in a big vat!) These are just a few of his enthusiastic and educational ways.

Dad led by example in other ways as well. When shown an injured animal found in the yard, he would set up a makeshift Mash unit and nurture it back to health or bring it to the veterinarian's for medical treatment at his own expense. No creature was too insignificant, even a hapless pet hamster needing emergency care!

Growing up in a family of nine children, I can attest to Dad's leadership and his ability to compromise and negotiate—qualities that translate well to the political arena. And as the lone female voice amid the din of eight brothers, I can bear witness to Dad's willingness to listen and sense of fair play. My brothers and I agree, whatever individual successes we might enjoy derive from the value system instilled and fostered by Dad (and of course Mom) throughout our formative years. Residents of this district will benefit from the same tireless devotion to duty shown as a husband, father, grandfather, businessman and citizen.

In a society where an "honest politician" is an oxymoron, it is difficult to convey all Dad's relevant political characteristics. But, what you see is NOT a politician but a man of integrity. And, what you get is a man that wants to repay his good fortune at having successfully raised a family of nine in this community.

Yes, buy the kids a van

Editor, Townsmen:

I commend the Townsmen for its editorial support of the Special Town Meeting warrant article #10, to purchase a van for Andover Youth Services. Putting it down in black and white, like standing up and being counted at the Town Meeting, demonstrates a commitment to the healthy, growth and development of our young people. In return, the youth of Andover should acknowledge the wisdom and generosity of their parents and elders, and model their own civic behavior on it.

Fleet Center doesn't work for this former fan

Editor, Townsmen:

I have no idea how many of your readers have had the "opportunity" to attend an event, sporting or otherwise, at the Fleet Center in Boston. I use the term "opportunity" with great caution because, unless you are able to afford the very expensive seats ($75 at rinkside for hockey), your line of view is, at best, poor.

The center is much too large to allow those in the less expensive seats to enjoy or even, in some cases, to see the entire game. The price for food and beverages is outrageous and the cost of souvenirs is absurd. I really have pity for middle-income families with two or three children. A night out at a Bruins or Celtics game will sorely test the monthly budget.

The Boston Garden wasn't that bad after all; the Fleet Center is not the Garden and never will be. But then, let your readers judge for themselves; as for me, I will watch the Bruins and Celtics on television this year.

Jim Fox's good character

Editor, Townsmen:

I have some comments which I feel are important to the candidacy of James E. Fox, a candidate for state representative of Andover. Because of his nature, I do not suspect that he would ever trumpet the matters discussed below.

Over 30 years ago, Jim and Ruth Ann Fox participated in a program by which they would host inner-city children during the summer. Although their family already numbered five at the time, they would take these children into their homes and make them part of the family. Many times Jim would sit with these children and advise them about the importance of honesty and character.

Years later, another large Andover family experienced the tragic loss of their father, leaving nine children of various ages. Once again Jim and Ruth Ann Fox availed themselves and their home to the two youngest children who were then approximately 8 and 9 years old. These two boys lived and became part of the Fox family, even to the extent of obtaining excellent medical treatment for the younger child's severe asthma. Eventually the children returned to their family when their oldest siblings were able to support the family, allowing them to remain in Andover.

Still years later, a young 16-year-old boy had an altercation with his parents and he also turned to Jim and Ruth Ann Fox. That young man lived with the family until finally reconciling with his parents, later entering the Marine Corps and proudly serving his country.

I know these stories to be true, because I am one of those young men. In an age when people talk about the government providing a safety net, I cannot help but think of the true personal safety net of love and compassion provided by Jim and Ruth Ann Fox. I assure you that these are not stories that will become part of the campaign rhetoric because Jim and Ruth Ann Fox would not view these undertakings as anything particularly special.

To me, it was clearly special and I will never forget them.

Transportation for the disabled restored

Editor, Townsmen:

I wanted to take an opportunity to thank both Barry Finegold and Larry Larsen for their support in sponsoring the re-establishment of local transportation services for the disabled. I had requested that the town require that the MVRTA include the disabled as well as the elderly for no-cost ridership on routes 21 and 22 on the Andover shuttle. The two members of the Board of Selectmen arranged to have the services implemented recently.

My daughter has already been able to participate in the program, which has greatly expanded her ability to gain access to Andover's businesses and services. Thank you both for your response.

River Road is now in better shape

Editor, Townsmen:

Having lived off River Road in West Andover for 12 years, I applaud the long overdue repaving of River Road.

River Road has always been a terribly busy road and travelers from Lawrence to Tewksbury and Lowell, as well as some of our town residents, often widely exceed the speed limit.

Development off River Road has absolutely boomed over the past decade. My current neighborhood alone has over 50 homes. All of these are beautiful nine- and 10-room houses. I'm sure I need not state how many carriages, toddlers and teens live here, not to mention Raven's Bluff, Fossen Road, Pheasant Run, etc.

We thank the town for finally paving a road with more potholes than road.

However, I pray the town will also see fit to post numerous speed limit, "watch for children" and "hidden drive" signs.

But, above all, we hope our "finest" will make a concerted effort to enforce the speed limit.

For surely as I am writing, the usual 45-50 mph drivers we've had for years will now be traveling 55-60 mph.

Finance Committee reports went out in the mail early this week. If anyone has not received one by the end of the week, they can be picked up at town offices.

Sewer

Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, said Tuesday he will recommend to selectmen that they withdraw from the warrant the proposal to extend the town sewer to 360 houses in the Sunset Rock Road area. His decision is based on a request from Bob McQuade, Public Works director, that he do so, Mr. Stapczynski said.

Jim Barenboim, selectmen chairman, said he will likely go along with that recommendation.

"I haven't talked to the rest of the board, but I will suggest it based on Bob McQuade's thoughts on it," Mr. Barenboim said Wednesday.

"This was put together at the request of the Board of Health and it was put together rather fast," Mr. McQuade said Wednesday, of the sewer extension proposal.

His department threw together a three-part plan, but "I'm not ready to recommend any one of the three," Mr. McQuade said.

Also, whenever betterments are to be assessed for such a project, it is his department's practice to put together estimates for individual property owners as to what kind of cost they are looking at, and that has not been done in this case, he said.

"Very frankly, we haven't dotted all the i's, crossed all the t's," Mr. McQuade said. "So I recommended strongly that we pull the article."

Mr. Stapczynski said that the board's approval a few weeks ago of a small sewer extension to relieve the septic problems of one property on Sunset Rock Road also took the immediacy out of the issue.

Mr. McQuade said he will recommend at

April Town Meeting next spring that voters approve funding, probably in the area of a couple of hundred thousand dollars, for engineering and design plans for extending the sewer into the Sunset Rock Road area. He would then hope to come back to either a Special Town Meeting next fall, or the 1998 Annual Town Meeting, with a request for funding to go ahead and at least start extending the sewer into that area.

Trash contract

An important article that will be on the warrant next Wednesday will be the proposal that asks voters to let selectmen amend the town's solid waste contract with the trash-to-energy plant in North Andover.

Because of increased costs at the plant, the town is going to pay higher rates for the next 10 years, the last half of a 20-year contract, regardless of what happens at Special Town Meeting. What voters will decide is if they want to allow selectmen to amend that contract to stabilize those higher costs at a set rate for the next 10 years, or extend the contract for an additional 10 years and pay a slightly lower set rate.

"Right now I'm certainly leaning toward the amended 10-year agreement and get out in 2005," Mr. McQuade said.

He was referring to the fact that the town would have completed its obligations in the contract in the year 2005, and would be free to look for the best deal on the market for trash disposal at that time.

The amended agreement takes the big increases the town will have to pay in the later years of the contract and spreads them out over the entire 10 years. Some of the higher costs are due to federally mandated retrofitting of the plant with updated air pollution control equipment, for which, according to the town's contract, the town has to share the burden.

The amended 10-year plan would increase the town's annual trash cost from the roughly $1 million it pays now, to about $1.5 million or $1.6 million, Mr. McQuade said.

That equates to a tipping fee of about $135 a ton. Current market rate for trash disposal is about $50 a ton.

Selectmen have indicated they will go along with Mr. McQuade's recommendation.

"We're leaning toward the 10-year option," Mr. Barenboim said Wednesday.

Mr. McQuade said the 10-year amended contract would also address the concerns of the Merrimack Valley Environmental Coalition, which asked in a letter last week to delay any extension to the trash contract. ["Group wants to delay trash contract decision," Oct. 10 Townsmen, page 36.]

Special Town Meeting is Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Also in response to the MVEC, Mr. McQuade said the dioxin emissions at the trash-to-energy plant have not exceeded permitted levels, and that when the air pollution control equipment is upgraded, the plant will not only meet current requirements, but it will meet new regulations not yet enacted but expected to be passed in the near future.

(At the end of his conversation, Mr. McQuade said he would no longer be in his position when the trash contract expires in 10 years, "and you can quote me on that.")

Other articles for Special Town Meeting next Wednesday include:

- A request by the Conservation Commission for $3.5 million for the acquisition of open space. This would be added to the roughly $1.6 million the ConsCom already has at its disposal for that purpose.

- A request from the town's Department of Community Services and Youth Services for $28,000 to purchase a van for youth activities. The group currently rents vans when needed, or finds alternative transportation. Since hiring Bill Fahey, the Youth Services director, program activities have greatly increased, and the van would be an alternative to using school buses for some activities, according to Brian Major, adult Youth Council member.

Mr. Major referred to the van as the "University on Wheels," and told selectmen that the youth group has discussed sharing the van with the Council on Aging for senior activities.

- A proposal to amend the zoning bylaws to allow assisted living facilities in residential areas. This amendment was encouraged by a proposal from Marriott Corporation last April to construct such a facility near the intersection of High and Haverhill streets, but the article on the warrant proposes changes that would apply to the entire town, not any one specific area. Although the town's bylaw currently allows nursing homes in residential areas, it only allows assisted living facilities in mixed use areas.

Marriott Corporation opposes a requirement that 15 percent of the units be set aside for those needing financial assistance, but planners are firm in their stance that the affordable housing units be provided. This issue will likely be aired on the floor of the meeting.

- Four requests, Articles 5-8, that address the residential growth issue widely discussed in town this past year. While three articles propose specific zoning amendments intended to create more spacious lots in new subdivisions, Article 8 requests $20,000 to hire a consultant to study the growth issue and explore some of the other ideas proposed for controlling growth. The Finance Committee this week voted to recommend approval of this article.

- A private request for $180,000 to reconstruct sidewalks and curbs on Maple Avenue. A group of citizens from the Maple Avenue area will speak on this at the meeting.

- A request for $40,000 to complete required improvements to Colonial Drive so it can be accepted as a town way. The road was left unfinished by the contractor, who was somehow able to slip his $90,000 performance guarantee out of the town's grasp before finishing the job. Mr. McQuade said his feeling is that selectmen will recommend against this article, and will ask town counsel to pursue the contractor to get him to finish the job.

- A proposal by the Andover School Committee to amend the town charter to add a requirement that a representative of the School Committee and a representative of the school superintendent be on any future school building committees.

Residents feel left out of town decisions

By don Staruk

A group of about 30 residents met in the third floor conference room at Memorial Hall Library Tuesday night to discuss the Special Town Meeting warrant articles, and how they can get more of a say in town business.

The group was rallied together partly by the announcement last week that selectmen, the Public Works Department and the Board of Health would push for extending the town sewer at next week's Special Town Meeting, according to Pat D'Ambra, of 82 Harold Parker Road.

Ms. D'Ambra opposes extending the sewer because she believes it will open the door for more residential expansion in town, she said. Selectmen are likely going to withdraw that proposal from the Special Town Meeting warrant, but Ms. D'Ambra and Randy Kunhardt, of 43 Morton St., said the way that article was being pushed through is typical of the way too much business in town is being done. The purpose of their group, he said, is to give residents more of a voice in those decisions, he said.

A large number of people feel decisions are made in a vacuum without input from residents, and that at town meetings, people who submit private articles are looked down on by selectmen, Mr. Kunhardt and Ms. D'Ambra said.

"Everything is jammed down your throat," said Ms. D'Ambra. "I'd love to see a town meeting where everybody stands up and everybody has something to say."

Members of the group are likely to have opinions on the growth articles, the Conservation Commission request for more money to buy open space, and other articles at next week's Special Town Meeting, according to the pair.

Town manager and family in hotel fire

Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski and his family took a vacation to Washington, D.C. last week, but their visits to the White House, the FBI headquarters, the air and space exhibit at the Smithsonian Institute or the viewing of the AIDS quilt on the mall were not the highlights. That was saved for their next-to-last day, Sunday, Oct. 13, when an arson fire in their Northwest D.C. hotel chased them out of bed at 3 a.m. and did $1 million worth of damage to the building.

His wife, Sandy, woke Mr. Stapczynski at 3:15 a.m. and said she heard people yelling about a fire in the hotel. Mr. Stapczynski, anxious to stay in bed, called the front desk to confirm that there indeed was a fire and they were evacuating the building. They dressed their two children before hustling them out. They were on the third floor and when they opened the door to the stairwell it was full of smoke, Mr. Stapczynski said. But having been out running every morning, he knew the way and encouraged his family down the stairs and into the lobby, stepping over and crawling under hoses and around firefighters battling one of four to six fires set in the building. Once outside, Mr. Stapczynski said he left his family and went around to the other side of the hotel where he helped guests who had climbed out onto a roof.

AHS ROUNDUP: Golfers champs; women's teams battle competition

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High golf team clinched its third straight Merrimack Valley Conference championship recently, while the AHS women's soccer, women's cross country and women's swim and dive teams are heading down the regular season home-stretch this week in the thick of the fight for league titles.

The men's soccer team also continued its amazing turnaround by stretching its undefeated streak through eight games and nailing down coach Dave Amundsen's milestone 250th career victory.

GOLF

Coach Bob Lawson's Merrimack Valley Conference champion Andover High golf team remained undefeated (14-0) with recent victories over Billerica twice (9-3 and 6 1/2 to 5 1/2), Dracut (11-1), Haverhill (8-4), Tewksbury (9 1/2 to 2 1/2), and Lowell (11-1).

Earlier wins were registered by the Eastern Mass. Tournament qualifiers against Chelmsford (7 1/2 to 4 1/2), Central Catholic (11-1), Lowell (10 1/2 to 1 1/2), Tewksbury (7-5) and Methuen (8 1/2 to 3 1/2).

Andover 11
Lowell 1

Geoff Gresh was the Golden Warriors' medalist for the first time this season, carding a 40 and winning his match against the Red Raiders at Mt. Pleasant GC in Lowell.

Also chalking up individual victories for the champs were Pat Annese, who shot 41, Captain Andy Mummey, sophomore Jin-Soo Joo and sophomore twin brothers Mike and Tim Sheehy.

Captain Rob Oppenheim fired a 41 and halved his match at No. 1, while Christian Sempere also halved his match.

Andover 6 1/2
Billerica 5 1/2

The Golden Warriors pulled out their closest win of the season behind the heroics of No. 7 and 8 golfers Geoff Gresh and Jin-

Soo Joo.

Those two won their individual head-to-head matches at the Country Club of Billerica, and captured the all-important best ball point, to enable the locals to eke out the decision and preserve their perfect record.

Both teams won four matches, with the other AHS victories coming from No. 1 man Rob Oppenheim and sophomore No. 3 Christian Sempere.

Pat Annese was the Andover medalist with a one-over 36 and Oppenheim was close behind at 37.

Andover 10 1/2
Chelmsford 1 1/2

Rob Oppenheim blistered the Indian Ridge CC course with a two-under 34 for nine holes, grabbing medalist honors while handing Lions' No. 1 player Dave Robinson his first loss of the season as the Golden Warriors officially eliminated Chelmsford from MVC title consideration with this romp.

Four other AHS linksmen broke 40, Christian Sempere carding a 38, Mike Sheehy 39 and Geoff Gresh 39 on their way to victories.

Pat Annese also shot 38 while halving his match with the visitors' John Learson.

Completing the impressive display with wins were Nick Branzetti and Tim Sheehy.

Andover 9
Billerica 3

Medalist Rob Oppenheim once again was untouchable with a one-under 35 at Indian Ridge CC, easily capturing his match against the Indians' Todd Rigoli and sparking the Golden Warriors to the victory that officially eliminated co-runnerup Billerica from the title chase.

Jin-Soo Joo, playing No. 6, won his match and carded a 41.

Other AHS victors were Andy Mummey at No. 3 and twins Tim and Mike Sheehy, while Christian Sempere halved his match and the league champs captured 3 1/2 best ball points.

Andover 8
Haverhill 4

Andy Mummey was the Golden Warriors' medalist in this one with a two-over 38 at Indian Ridge CC, and he also won his individual head-to-head match.

Sophomore Kevin Barry fired a 39 and captured his match, while other AHS victors were sophomores Nick Branzetti and Jin-Soo Joo.

Jason Porro of the Hillies was overall medalist with a 37.

Andover 11
Dracut 1

The locals completed a season series sweep of Dracut with a convincing 11-1 romp at Indian Ridge CC.

Top guns Rob Oppenheim and Pat Annese shared medalist honors with two-over 38 scores, and once again Annese clinched his match with a spectacular birdie putt on the ninth hole.

Annese curled in a 35-footer on that final hole to edge past Middies' medalist Dave Harne, who shot a 40.

The Golden Warriors won seven of the eight matches overall.

Joining Oppenheim and Annese with head-to-match match wins were sophomore Tim Sheehy, Jin-Soo Joo, freshman Bob

Andover 9 1/2
Tewksbury 2 1/2

The Redmen gave AHS its toughest match earlier in the season, with the locals eventually pulling out a 7-5 victory at Indian Ridge CC.

This one, played at Trull Brook GC in Tewksbury, was no contest as the Golden Warriors rolled.

Rob Oppenheim led six AHS linksmen into the winner's circle with his seventh individual triumph of the season at No. 1, and he also grabbed medalist honors for the sixth time with a two-over 38.

Once again the lower half of the order came through, with No. 6 Christian Sempere and No. 7 Mike Sheehy carding 41s and winning their matches.

Also capturing victories for Andover were No. 3 man Nick Branzetti, No. 5 Kevin Barry and No. 8 Tim Sheehy.

The league leaders earned three best ball points and halved the fourth.

CROSS COUNTRY

The Andover High women improved to 6-1 after blasting past Billerica and Lawrence, 15-50, in recent Merrimack Valley Conference dual meets and then ripping through Central Catholic, 19-42, and Dracut, 15-50, in a league tri-meet.

The AHS men (3-3) dropped a tough 25-32 decision to Billerica, cruised past Lawrence, 20-41, and then split a tri-meet by defeating Dracut, 15-50, and bowing to Central Catholic, 21-37, in recent MVC competition.

The local harriers also placed second to host Tewksbury in the second annual Co-ed Invitational Relays at the Tewksbury Middle School.

Coach Leo Lafond's Warriors returned to the trails yesterday, facing Haverhill and host Methuen in another MVC tri-meet.

The regular season concludes with a dual meet next Monday at home against Lowell (3:30 p.m.).

The League Championship Meet is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 26, at Chelmsford High (varsity, 11 a.m.).

Andover women sweep

Kristen Munson chalked up her first individual varsity victory to lead the sweep of Central Catholic and Dracut last week.

Munson covered Andover's 3.0 mile home course in 21:34, while teammates and friendly archrivals Melissa Ying and Katherine Blais were 2-3 in 21:46 and 21:54 respectively.

Also placing in the top 10 for the locals were Abby Clarke (6th, 23:36), Mary Burbank (7th, 23:51), Janel Ricci (8th, 24:00), Meghan Woo (9th, 24:21) and Janine Givens (10th, 24:31).

Completing the impressive parade of AHS harriers were Jaelyn Gallant (11th, 24:42), Merinda Pattullo (12th, 24:42), Robyn Givens (14th, 25:52), Jess Youell (16th, 25:54), Claire Givens (17th, 26:02) and Jocelyn Gould (18th, 26:06).

Andover women 15
Billerica 50

So happy was junior Katherine Blais with her first individual win of the year, that she forgot to turn in the stick with the number 1 on it given to the first runner across the finish line.

"We're still waiting for that stick," said Andover coach Leo Lafond with a laugh. "I think she kept it as a memento and put it on her mantle at home."

Blais broke away from teammates Melissa Ying (one win) and Kristen Munson over the final one-third mile, capturing the 2.8 mile race in 19:49.

Senior Captain Ying was the runner-up, six seconds behind (19:55), and sophomore Munson finished a close third in 20:00.

So dominant were the Lady Warriors that they swept the top eight places, with Munson followed by senior Captain Abby Clarke (4th, 21:43), freshman Mary Burbank (5th, 21:56), senior Janine Givens (6th, 22:30), senior Meghan Woo (7th, 22:35) and junior Liz Kelley (8th, 22:36).

Rounding out the Andover runners with solid efforts were junior Jess Youell (10th, 23:15), sophomore Jen Thorpe (11th, 23:21), sophomore Merinda Pattullo (12th, 23:23) and sophomore Robyn Givens (13th, 23:54).

The loss was only the second in seven decisions for Billerica (5-2).

Janel Ricci won the JV race for Andover.

Andover women 15
Lawrence 50

The Lancers were no match for the host team, which swept the first eight places and nine of the top 10 in the home opener over the Warriors' 3.0 mile course.

Melissa Ying earned her second individual victory of the season with a 21:16 clocking, eight seconds faster than runner-up Kristen Munson who crossed in 21:24.

Katherine Blais was third in 21:58, and following in order for the winners were Mary Burbank (4th, 23:45), Abby Clarke (5th, 23:56), Janine Givens (6th, 24:16), Meghan Woo (7th, 24:21) and Robyn Givens (8th, 25:16).

Jess Youell placed 10th for the second straight meet (25:35).

Andover men split

Captain Todd Collins was the individual race winner for the Golden Warriors, completing the 3.0 mile AHS course in 17:54.

It was Collins' first victory of the season after several other top three finishes.

The next four places were swept by Central Catholic (6-1), forcing the locals to settle for the split with the visiting Raiders and Dracut.

Collins' victory was as exciting as they come, the victor nipping runner-up Luis Acevedo of Central (17:55) by two feet and one split second.

Also finishing top 10 for Andover were Donnie Pattullo (6th, 18:43), Jeff D'Angelo (8th, 18:50) and Chris Rillahan (10th, 19:06).

Rounding out the AHS scorers was Greg Stamm (13th, 19:26), while other competitors were Geoff Bomba (16th, 19:49), Chris Desjardins (17th, 19:57), Bob Cronin (21st, 20:29) and Jordan Fuhr (23rd, 21:25).

The Warriors were again competing without injured standout Matt Herling (Achilles tendon) and senior exchange student Tuukka Karvonen of Finland (hip-flexor/thigh).

AHS ROUNDUP

for Andover, which placed only four harriers among the top 10.

Pete Gonsalves won the race over his home 2.8 mile course in 16:34, with AHS seniors Matt Herling (16:45) and Captain Todd Collins (16:48) placing second and third.

Senior Captain Donnie Pattullo finished sixth (17:23) and freshman Greg Stamm was 10th in 17:45.

Completing the Golden Warriors' scorers was junior Chris Rillahan (11th, 17:55).

Also competing for the locals were senior exchange student Tuukka Karvonen (12th, 17:58) from Finland, senior Jeff D'Angelo (14th, 18:16), senior Geoff Bomba (16th, 18:26), sophomore Evan Stuart (17th, 18:29), junior Scott Peterson (19th, 18:38), junior Randy Matos (20th, 18:53) and junior Chris Desjardins (21st, 19:04).

The JV race was won by Matt Bausemer of Andover.

Andover men 20 Lawrence 41

Todd Collins sparked the Golden Warriors' victory with a second place finish, his 18:16 clocking over the 3.0 mile course just 11 seconds behind individual race winner Kilvio Tejada of Lawrence (18:05).

Collins was followed by four teammates bunched approximately a half-minute apart.

Donnie Pattullo was third (19:02), Jeff D'Angelo fourth (19:23), Chris Rillahan fifth (19:32) and Greg Stamm sixth (19:34).

Rounding out the top 10 finishers for AHS were Evan Stuart (8th, 19:56), Geoff Bomba (9th, 20:10) and Randy Matos (10th, 20:21).

Andover competed without two of its top harriers, Matt Herling nursing an Achilles tendon injury and Finnish transfer Tuukka Karvonen sidelined by a pulled thigh muscle.

Co-ed Invitational Relays

Unlike conventional cross country meets, where the low score wins, in this one the team with the most points captured the title.

Each of the four participating schools entered five four-person relay squads consisting of two boys and two girls. Each individual competitor ran 2.25 miles for a total distance of nine miles.

The top 10 groups were awarded points, with the winners receiving 10 points, the runners-up nine, third place eight and down to one point for 10th place.

Host Tewksbury placed 1-2 and grabbed five of the top nine spots to run away with the team title, earning 32 of the 55 available points.

Andover finished a distant second with 14 points, Methuen was third with six and Lowell fourth with three points.

WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL

The Andover High women's varsity volleyball team remained on track for a post-season tournament berth despite some recent struggles.

Victories included 2-0 sweeps of visiting Lowell and non-league Newton South, and a gritty come-from-behind 2-1 triumph over Haverhill.

The defeats included a 2-1 decision to perennial Merrimack Valley Conference power Chelmsford and a 2-0 setback to Methuen.

Andover also competed over the weekend in the eight-team University of Massachusetts-Lowell Columbus Holiday Invitational Classic.

Joining the locals in the field were Greater Lawrence Regional, North Reading, Dracut, Billerica, Chelmsford, Lexington and Lowell.

AHS dropped a 2-0 decision to Dracut in its first tourney match, and came back to defeat Greater Lawrence Regional 2-0 the following night.

The Lady Warriors entered the week at 8-6 overall and 5-5 in league play, needing to win two of its remaining six matches to qualify for the tournament.

Coach George Sullivan's squad is facing a brutal homestretch schedule.

The Lady Warriors hosted Lawrence yesterday, greet Haverhill tomorrow (3:30 p.m.), and next week tangle with MVC tri-powers Dracut (away, Monday), Billerica (away, Wednesday) and Chelmsford (home, Friday).

Andover 2 Haverhill 1

One of the most satisfying victories of the year came when the Lady Warriors battled back from a 15-11 first-game loss to win the last two games, 15-12 and 15-10.

"We started the match slowly and seemed a little intimidated," said coach Sullivan. "We couldn't get focused and we weren't aggressive."

However, down one game and trailing 10-4 in the second, AHS went on an 11-2 tear to tie the match and then bolted to a commanding 11-2 lead in the final game.

"We had trouble finishing them off," said Sullivan. "We took the big lead and then started to panic. We let Haverhill back in it before settling down to close it out."

Kristen Wysocki finished with 7 blocks and seven kills. "She hustled all over the court and made the extra plays that win matches," said Sullivan.

Sue Tully was also strong at net. Ann Marie Paone did a good job setting, and top back-row defenders were Gwen Schmuhl, Ryoko Matsuura and Allison Daher.

"We survived in spite of 18 bad serve-receives," said Sullivan. "We gave them 18 points."

Coach Art Iworsley's Andover JVs (7-5) swept Haverhill, 2-0, with strong play by Lindsay Sweeney and Janice Coppolino keying the 15-7, 15-3 victory.

Chelmsford 2 Andover 1

The Lady Warriors dropped the first game of the marathon match to the host Lions, 9-15, squared things with a 16-14 overtime victory in game two, and then lost the third game in overtime, 18-16.

"This was definitely our finest effort of the season," said coach Sullivan. "We had them 14-13 in the final game. We were one point from the win, but several of our players stood and watched a free ball drop between them for the tying point. We killed ourselves by doing that six times in the three games. It cost us either a point or change of possession each time."

"Our serving was hard and good (only 10 bad serves in three games), and we also passed the ball well."

"Our girls were a little intimidated in the first game because it was Chelmsford (perennial league title challenger). We had a problem getting settled in and relaxed."

Senior 6'1" middle hitter Stephanie Brown produced seven kills and 18 good hits in the match, while senior 6'2" middle hitter Kristen Wysocki added seven kills and was 13-for-14 serving.

Ryoko Matsuura played strong defense and served well in the second game, senior 6'1" Captain Sue Tully was outstanding at the net as a blocker, and Ann Marie Paone did a fine job setting.

Also playing well in the frustrating loss were junior Jessica Redding (back-row defense), senior Gwen Schmuhl (setting, defense) and Captain Allison Daher (passing, serving, defense).

The Lady Warriors led 12-7 in game two before holding on for the victory, and they trailed 7-2 early in the ill-fated third game before rallying to take the 14-13 lead.

The Andover JVs were 2-0 winners over their Chelmsford counterparts.

Andover 2 Lowell 0

After a sluggish start the locals rolled to a symmetrical 15-6, 15-6 sweep at the Dunn Gym.

"We went through a letdown from the Chelmsford match," said coach Sullivan. "But once we got untracked we used 15 players and spread the floor time around pretty evenly."

"The defense was excellent, and we finished with five service aces and only three bad serves."

Stephanie Brown contributed five kills, Sue Tully hit the ball hard consistently throughout the two games, Gwen Schmuhl did an excellent job setting and on defense, and Ann Marie Paone was a defensive standout.

Coach Art Iworsley's JV team stretched its win streak through four matches, and improved to 5-4 overall, with a 2-0 sweep. Game scores were 15-9 and 15-3.

Playing well for the junior Warriors were Ryoko Matsuura (setting), Lindsay Pearson, Janice Coppolino and Tricia Griffin.

Andover had only three bad serves against the same Lowell team that beat the locals in the season opener.

Methuen 2 Andover 0

Few positives emerged from this match as the host Rangers (7-3) rolled to a 15-9, 15-11 victory.

"We must have had the Monday blahs," lamented coach Sullivan. "We couldn't get it in gear. We were flat, lacked aggressiveness and were too inconsistent."

"Methuen is a good team, and they hit the ball hard, but we were guilty of too many mental mistakes. We didn't serve well and the passing was atrocious."

"It didn't figure because we had an excellent 90-minute practice the night before, going over a lot of game situations and doing just about everything right."

Stephanie Brown finished the match with five kills and Sue Tully also contributed a solid all-around effort.

After falling behind 12-5 in the second game the Lady Warriors rallied for six straight points, closing to 12-11 before the Rangers regrouped and ran off the last three points to close out the match.

In the JV prelim, Janice Coppolino played very well for Andover but Methuen registered a 2-0 sweep (15-5, 15-7).

Andover 2 Newton South 0

"We were not happy campers after the Methuen match," said coach Sullivan. "We had a meeting the next day, ironed out some things, and played an outstanding match the following afternoon against Newton South."

The visiting Lions (9-2) of the Dual County League suffered only their second loss in 11 matches, AHS sweeping to 15-12 and 15-5 victories.

"We only had two bad serves (45 of 47) and that was a big factor," said coach Sullivan. "The key to our success is good passing, which gets the ball to the net so we can take advantage of our hitting prowess."

The Lady Warriors led the first game, 9-5, and then broke away from a 12-12 tie by scoring the last three points.

After taking a slim 5-4 lead in game two, AHS went through a couple rotations without scoring but then broke it open by escaping on a 10-1 closing run.

Leading the way were Captain Sue Tully (eight kills), Stephanie Brown (four kills), Kristen Wysocki (four kills, five blocks), Jess Redding (defense), Ann Marie Paone (defense) and Captain Allison Daher (defense).

The Andover JVs (6-5) were also 2-0 winners, Tricia Griffin and Becky Colgate contributing strong all-around efforts in the 15-3, 15-7 romp.

Columbus Holiday Classic

Andover 0

The powerful Middies (10-2) needed just 10 minutes to wipe out an early 2-0 deficit and defeat the Lady Warriors 15-4 in game one. "We were very timid and Dracut was powering the ball and tipping very well," said coach Sullivan.

AHS gave Dracut all it could handle in the second game, however, before going down 15-10.

"The second game went back and forth," said Sullivan. "We tried everything to throw them off, including taking two timeouts. We finished the match with only five bad serve-receives and four bad serves."

Stephanie Brown contributed 17 good hits for Andover, Kristen Wysocki played well at the net, Gwen Schmuhl was a defensive standout and setters Jess Redding and Ann Marie Paone both did a fine job.

Andover 2 Greater Lawrence 0

AHS was never in trouble after rolling out to a 9-1 first-game lead, as the locals swept the Reggies 15-7, 15-2.

The loss was only the third in 15 matches for Greater Lawrence (12-3), currently second to Shawsheen Tech in the Commonwealth Athletic Conference.

All 13 varsity players saw considerable court time, and leading the way were Kristen Wysocki (five kills), Stephanie Brown (four kills, blocking), Gwen Schmuhl (defense, eight service points in second game), Sue Tully (blocking), Allison Daher (defense), and setters Ann Marie Paone and Jess Redding.

WOMEN'S SWIMMING

The Andover High women's swim and dive team placed first in seven of the 12 events, swept the top three places in the one-meter diving and 500-yard freestyle, and rolled to a 117-69 Merrimack Valley Conference dual meet victory over Nashua,

That victory, coupled with a 104-81 romp over Notre Dame Academy and losses to Haverhill (106-80) and non-league power Acton-Boxboro (102-79), left the Lady Warriors at 5-2 overall and 5-1 for second place (Chelmsford is 6-0) in the MVC.

Against Haverhill, despite the setback, sophomore Caroline Crocker set a school record for points while winning the one meter diving competition. She then boosted the new mark even higher three days later against Acton-Boxboro.

Producing State Championship Meet qualifying times against Haverhill were Brenna O'Connor in both the 100- and 200-yard freestyle, Jenna Blongiewicz in both the 200 IM and 100 backstroke, Captain Meghan Donahue in the 100 butterfly, divers Crocker and Nicole Carpentier, and the 200 medley relay team of Blongiewicz, Donahue, Alexis Casele and Rebecca Parks.

Blongiewicz is attempting to become only the second AHS women's swimmer to make State cuts in every individual event. Andover's only four-time All-Scholastic athlete, Diana Liberty, did it as a sophomore.

Sectional qualifying times were achieved against Haverhill by Casele in the 100 breaststroke, and both Donahue and Kalley Thomas in the 500 freestyle.

Schedule

Coach Marilyn Fitzgerald's squad returned to the water yesterday with a non-league dual against Reading.

Andover hosts Billerica tomorrow at Greater Lawrence Vo-Tech (3:30 p.m.), and wraps up the dual meet season next week with a home meet against Dracut (Tuesday) and the finale versus first place Chelmsford on Friday at the Lowell 'Y' (3:30).

Haverhill 106

Andover 80

AHS placed first in eight of the 12 events, but couldn't match host Haverhill High's depth as the Lady Warriors fell from the unbeaten ranks with the MVC loss.

Crocker chalked up 214.40 points in the diving to eclipse the four-year-old school record of 210.00 established by Kasie Kearins who went on to compete at the University of New Hampshire.

Versatile junior Blongiewicz was a double winner in the 200 individual medley (2:20.26) and 100 backstroke (1:02.82), while O'Connor placed first in both the 200 free (2:06.22) and 100 free (58.30).

Donahue earned a first in the 100 butterfly (1:04.79) and added a second place in the 500 free (5:52.09), swimming the two races just minutes apart.

Casele, a freshman, contributed a victory in the 100 breaststroke (1:16.75).

"It's been a long, long time since we've had a first in the 100 breast," said coach Fitzgerald. "Alexis swam an excellent race."

AHS also touched first in the meet-opening 200 medley relay with Blongiewicz, Casele, Donahue and Parks (2:01.67).

Adding second places were the 200 free relay quartet of Casele, senior Julie Ahern, Parks and O'Connor (1:53.18), and the 400 freestyle relay crew of Lisa Jayne, Donahue, O'Connor and anchorwoman Blongiewicz (4:07.34).

Carpentier was second in the one meter diving with 170.65 points.

Casele produced the only third place in the 200 IM (2:32.15).

Andover fourths went to Kalley Thomas (200 free, 2:15.97), Ahern (50 free, 28.27) and freshman Greta Kaminski (100 back, 1:11.11).

Fifth places were earned by Parks (50 free, 29.70), Kaminski (100 fly, 1:10.44), Ahern (100 free, 1:04.07), Thomas (500 free, 6:02.88) and Captain Caitlin Fitzpatrick (100 breast, personal best 1:21.01).

Chalking up sixth places were freshman Katya Yerzolimsky in both the 200 free (2:21.96) and 500 free (6:18.24), Lisa Jayne in the 200 IM (2:43.69) and 100 backstroke (1:13.72), senior Emma Nowinski (50 free, 31.28), sophomore diver Allison St. Jean (138.65 points), senior Jen Paull (100 fly, 1:16.74), Parks (100 free, 1:05.81) and sophomore Melissa Osborne (100 breast, 1:25.24).

Andover 117

Nashua 69

The wide victory margin was all that surprised coach Fitzgerald in this one.

Six swimmers notched one individual victory each, the wins registered by Jenna Blongiewicz (200 IM, 2:22.72), Meghan Donahue (100 butterfly, 1:06.18), Brenna O'Connor (100 free, 59.28), Kalley Thomas (500 free, 5:58.19), Alexis Casele (100 breaststroke, 1:17.47) and diver Caroline Crocker (212.25 points).

The 400 free relay quartet of Donahue, O'Connor, Casele and Blongiewicz also touched first (4:05.97).

Completing the 1-2-3 sweep in diving were Nicole Carpentier (162.30 points) and Allison St. Jean (153.18 points).

Jen Paull (6:23.44) and Pam Muller were 23 in the 500 free.

Other individual event runners-up for the locals were O'Connor (200 free, 2:02.94), Casele (200 IM, 2:31.16), Julie Ahern (50 free, 27.87), Greta Kaminski (100 butterfly, 1:10.44) and Blongiewicz (100 backstroke, 1:02.00).

Relay teams placing second were the 200 medley foursome of Blongiewicz, Casele, Donahue and Ahern (2:02.19) and the 200 free squad of Rebecca Parks, Kaminski, Ahern and O'Connor (1:54.25).

AHS also had three relay teams place third, the 200 medley quartet of Kaminski, Caitlin Fitzpatrick, Lisa Jayne and Krissie O'Neil (2:12.28), the 200 free foursome of Michelle Zaiter, Jackie Sawyer, O'Neil and Fitzpatrick (1:59.69) and the 400 free crew of Thomas, Jayne, Parks and Paull (4:28.50).

Finishing third as well were Thomas (200 free, 2:15.71), Donahue (50 free, 28.03), Ahern (100 free, 1:02.88), Jayne (100 backstroke, 1:12.74) and Fitzpatrick (100 breast, 1:20.82).

Contributing fourth places were Kaminski (200 IM, 2:37.66), Jayne (100 butterfly, 1:15.38), and Parks (100 free, 1:03.50).

Fifth places went to Muller (200 free, 2:26.72), Parks (50 free, 28.28), Paull (100 back, 1:17.79) and O'Neil (100 breast, 1:24.07).

Ahern and Parks turned in personal-best times in their individual events.

Acton-Boxboro 102

Andover 79

The Colonials, who have won 13 state titles in the last 15 years and are undefeated again this season (7-0), placed first in nine of the 12 events against the host Lady Warriors.

Jenna Blongiewicz captured the 100-yard freestyle (56.25), Caroline

Crocker was again tops in diving and raised her own school record to 216.00 points, and the AHS 400 free relay team of Meghan Donahue, Julie Ahern, Brenna O'Connor and Blongiewicz touched first (4:05.44).

O'Connor added a pair of second places in the 200 IM (2:24.25) and 500 free (5:36.43), while Blongiewicz was runner-up in the 200 free (2:01.57).

Second-place relay teams for Andover were the 200 medley crew of Blongiewicz, Alexis Casele, Donahue and O'Connor (2:01.78) and the 200 free quartet of Casele, Caitlin Fitzpatrick, Lisa Jayne and Rebecca Parks (1:54.59).

Mariners make their mark this summer

Joshua Topp is a member of the New England Mariners/AAU Junior Olympic Baseball Club that played in two national tournaments this season. The Mariners placed third in the first tournament in Concord, N.C. The second tournament, the AAU National Invitational for 13 year olds, was held in Tulsa, Okla. The Mariners placed sixth. Joshua was the starting catcher and relief pitcher. His overall batting average was .450 and as catcher he threw out 40 percent of runners from behind the plate.

championships. The Andover High School student plays for the AAU New England Mariners out of Beverly.

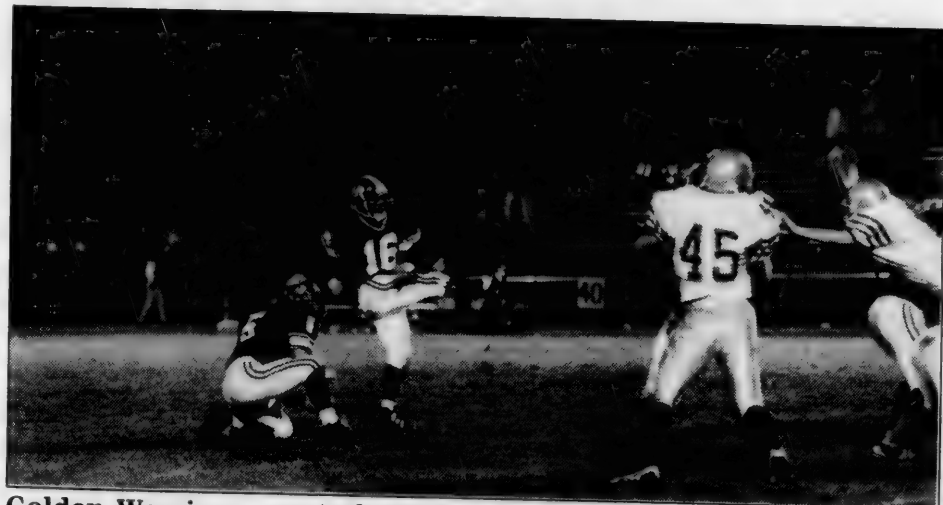

The Mariner were undefeated (7-0) in pool play, before advancing to the medal round. They lost a tough, extra-inning semifinal game, 7-6, to the eventual national champions, South Nevada Bulldogs. They came back to win the consolation final, 7-2, against the San Diego (Calif.) Stars.

Rich was the starting pitcher in two of the Mariner victories in pool play, including the tournament opener against the Edina (Minn.) Hornets, and another against West Des Moines (Iowa).

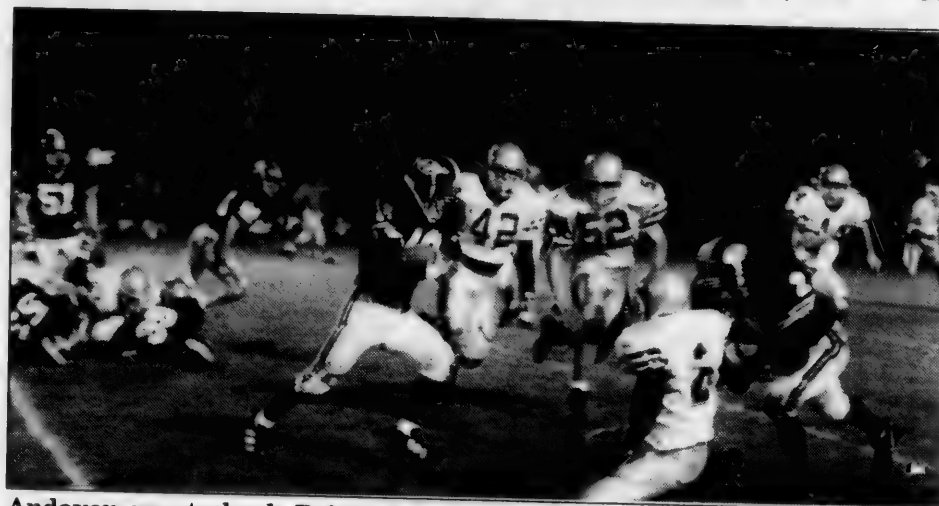

Rich also played first base and batted .400 for the series.

Golden Warriors quarterback and kicker Brian Tisbert was under intense pressure from Haverhill's defense all night.

Andover quarterback Brian Tisbert ran into walls of opposition, as the number of scoreless quarters (14) continues to pile up for the Warriors.

Mara Shiff, cheerleading co-captain, pulls for the home team.

With 12 points overall, Ryan Games is Andover's top scorer so far this season. However, the AHS offense hasn't scored for a while...

Warriors shut out at Homecoming

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High varsity football team's frustrations deepened last weekend following a 14-0 Homecoming Game loss to Haverhill under the lights at Lovely Field.

The shutout was the second in the last three games for the Golden Warriors, who continue to play excellent defense while struggling to put points on the board.

After piling up 34 points in the first half of a season-opening 34-7 non-league victory over Keene, N.H., the AHS offense has gone 14 consecutive quarters without scoring.

The loss left the locals' at 1-3 overall and 0-3 in the Merrimack Valley Conference, while Haverhill improved to 3-2 overall and 2-2 league. The Hillies have also beaten Andover three of the last four years.

This was the fourth straight week the Golden Warriors' defense has allowed two or fewer touchdowns, but for the third time came away unwarded for its efforts.

Third quarter blitz

Haverhill spoiled Homecoming by breaking a scoreless tie with all 14 of its points in the third quarter.

The two deciding touchdowns came on consecutive possessions, Jamin Persichetti scoring on a three-yard run and quarterback Derek Vater connecting with Eoin McCann on a 37-yard catch-and-run pas play following a short AHS punt.

Andy Alsup followed both TDs with successful conversion kicks.

Once again Andover had to work hard for its yardage, finishing the game with 87 yards rushing and 55 through the air on six completions.

Fumbles were again costly as AHS coughed up the ball four times and lost possession on two of the bobbles.

Yardage was especially hard to come by after Haverhill took the lead, the Hillies inspired to new heights following the back-to-back touchdowns.

Ryan Games had the bulk of the yardage on the ground, ripping off some solid chunks of yardage while boosting his season rushing total over 250 yards.

Andover quarterback Brian Tisbert was under intense pressure, being thrown for losses three times in the fourth quarter and five times in the game.

Defensively, Tisbert picked off an interception to blunt a Haverhill drive early in the game.

Tewksbury tomorrow

Things will definitely not be any easier tomorrow night when undefeated defending MVC champion Tewksbury comes to Lovely Field for a 7 p.m. game.

The Redmen own one of the state's longest regular season win streaks, dating back to November 1994.

Since then Tewksbury has won 16 in a row, including 10 last fall and five this season.

The only loss during that time came to Walpole, 28-14, in last December's Eastern Mass. Division 2-B Super Bowl Game.

This year veteran coach Bob Aylward's squad has registered consecutive wins over non-league Burlington (27-13) and Westford Academy (30-7), along with MVC opponents Lowell (12-7), Chelmsford (27-0) and Dracut (33-8).

The catalysts for the powerful offense include veteran running back Tim Lavoie, Dave Shunamon and Matt Petros.

Lavoie has 11 touchdowns (66 points) and 414 yards rushing in five games, Shunamon three TDs and 372 yards rushing and Petros (24 points) has caught two touchdown passes and run for two scores.

The Redmen defense is big and quick, led by defensive end Mike Howell, Shunamon and Jim Callanan.

Tewksbury outgunned Andover 34-22 last year, on its way to the league title, but the Golden Warriors hold a slim 7-6-1 edge over the Redmen over the last 14 years.

Crispin's Bears celebrates giving, caring

Crispin's Bears at 23 Barnard St. will celebrate Oct. 26 through Nov. 1 - St. Crispin's Day, International Let's Make a Difference Day, and Good Bears of the World's birthday - all to benefit two helping organizations. Part of the proceeds from all sales will go toward these organizations.

Good Bears of the World is an international non-profit organization dedicated to spreading love and caring by giving teddy bears to hurt, abused, and traumatized children and the elderly. The Bear Bank was created to make sure GBW could always supply the teddy bears requested by those who minister to people. The Bear Bank allows individuals to participate in teddy bear gift-giving by filling the daily requests from crisis and abuse centers, police departments, hospitals, hospices, nursing homes and other care-giving agencies. Last year, Good Bears donated more than 10,000 teddy bears in answer to requests. Crispin's will donate to the Bear Bank part of the proceeds from the sale of all bears and "bearaphernalia" during this celebration.

Crispin's has chosen to support the Merrimack Valley Chapter of TIP, Trauma Intervention Programs Inc., a group of specially trained volunteers who provide emotional and practical support to victims and families of traumatic events in the Merrimack Valley. TIP volunteers have provided assistance to 750 citizens and emergency first responders have contributed more than 51,400 volunteer hours to the community. TIP volunteers will be given bears purchased from the GBW Bear Bank to use in their work.

On Saturday, Oct. 26, two nationally famous teddy bear artists will be present in the shop from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. to sign their bears.

April Whitcomb Gustafson is known internationally for her miniature bears. She has won many awards for her original creations, which have the look of stuffed bears but are actually handsculpted of clay, painted by hand and covered with velvet "fur." She has created a limited edition of five bears especially for Crispin's Bears. "The Shoemaker's Elf" is a 3-inch tall miniature bear dressed in a green elf suit, with shoes, hat and a bell. He arrives in a glove-leather boot, handcrafted in the likeness of the boot used to symbolize St. Crispin, patron saint of leather and the shoemakers.

Artist Linda Klay (left) has created a limited edition of six mohair bears entitled "Kathy's Clown." Marcia Miller is the owner of Crispin's Bears.

Deborah Stewart is a teddy bear artist known for the expressions of her bears. Each one is hand made by Ms. Stewart in plush, mohair or alpaca. She says the inspiration for her bears comes from the world around her. Ms. Stewart will make a bear during the day so people can see what is involved in making an artist's bear. She has made a limited edition of 10 bears for this celebration. Cherubina (Angel of the Sky) is an 8-inch white angel bear with gossamer wings and a rose quartz necklace.

Artist Linda Klay has created a limited edition of six mohair bears entitled "Kathy's Clown." She has donated one of these bears, worth $295, to be raffled off. Each chance to win is $1. The winner will be chosen Nov. 1. All proceeds will go to benefit Good Bears of the World.

On Friday, Nov. 1, from 5 to 7 p.m., Jay Hadly from The Country Bear will make appraisals of antique teddy bears. Mr. Hadly is a recognized teddy bear artist and appraiser. He is donating his appraisal skills.

A $5 donation for each bear appraised is requested. All monies will be donated to Good Bears of the World.

Owner John Clifford Clifford Jewelers

Clifford Jewelers, in North Andover and Salem, N.H., is in the midst of its annual preholiday sale with 20 to 50 percent off storewide.

This sale includes gold and stone jewelry, sterling silver, pearls, a line of scarab jewelry, children's pieces and pewter baby gifts. A large selection of mother and child 14K gold and sterling silver pendants are popular choices. Watches are also available, including a complete line of Swiss Army and Nautica watches.

John Clifford creates outstanding and unique custom work. You may view one-of-a-kind pieces he has created, or make an appointment to design your own. Many rings, bracelets and earrings are exclusively created for the store. He is also skilled at repairing heirloom jewelry.

Customers may bring in used gold (broken chains, ring settings, etc.) and John will design, at considerable savings, a new piece. This preserves the sentimental value since the same gold is used.

Clifford's is the exclusive area dealer for the Original Mother's Basket. Born of the Nantucket Lightship Basket, the handcrafted 14K gold Original Mother's Basket is presented with a stone for each flower representing a child's birth month.

Both locations include repair and custom services. Most repairs are performed in Salem while you wait; jewelry repairs are not sent out to another location. Clifford specializes in appraisals, which are done on the premises while you wait. Items do not have to be left in the store.

Clifford Jewelers' North Andover store is at Messina's Plaza, 109 Main St. Telephone: 682-4653. The Salem, N.H., location is 64 N. Broadway, Rte. 28, across from Dodge Grain. Telephone: (603) 894-5755.

Both stores are open Tuesday through Saturday. John Clifford is at the North Andover store Wednesday afternoons, and in Salem all other times. 10/17/96

JB Doherty of Locke Street gets his book signed by Jay Leno. Mr. Doherty and Mr. Leno were AHS classmates.

Jay Leno

asked Mr. Leno when he got to the front of the line.

"Getting there," he answered.

Joyce Allison, whose daughter, Barbara, lives on Canterbury Street in Andover, carried a sign reading, "It's Jay day. I came all the way from New York to see Jay."

Her daughter said she called her mother as soon as she found out Mr. Leno was coming and her mother made the trip.

"I watch him every night. He's so cute!" said an excited Joyce Allison, after meeting him. "He shook my hand. I can't wash my hand."

"It seems the whole town showed up," said Mr. Leno's editor, Marco Di Preta.

Few were disappointed.

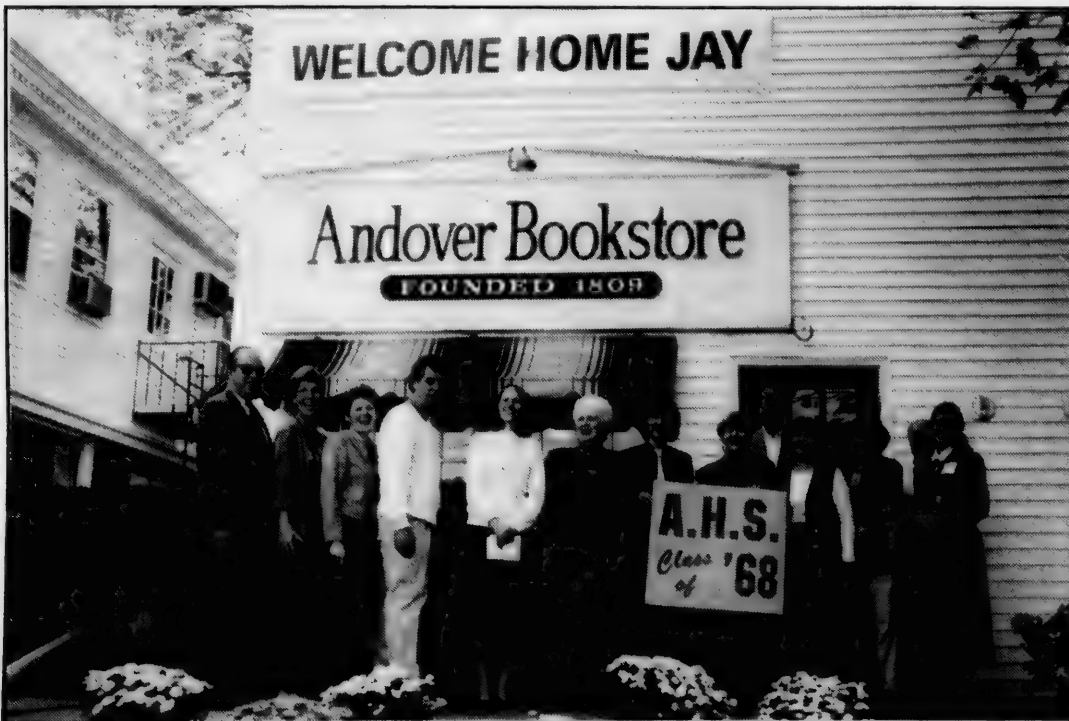

Jay signed everything - Doritos bags, a frisbee, hubcaps, a Townsmen, Sanborn School student Susan Bryden's small shoe. He signed a nearly 6-foot-long photo of a 1912 auto rally that ran from Portland, Maine, to Haverhill with "The car is a fad! Jay Leno."

But Mr. Leno seemed to get the biggest kick out of ribbing his old classmates.

"It's the first book he's ever read," said Mr. Leno when Andover Lt. Phil Froburg approached.

"He could be right," Lt. Froburg joked later. "He did say it had some pictures in it."

"He was a good old Ballardvale boy," continued the nostalgic lieutenant. "He was always a cut-up then. He would crack his knuckles at assemblies. It would drive you crazy."

Mr. Leno also got a kick out of seeing Bob O'Brien, a classmate who he remembered as being an incredibly impatient kid.

"O'Brien, waiting in line for me! There can be no greater pay-back," said Mr. Leno.

Then, Mr. Leno posed for a picture with the family and said hello to Mr. O'Brien's wife, Debbie, and daughter, Caitlin.

"When you get a little older, I'll tell you some stories about your old man," Mr. Leno told the man's 11-year-old son, Michael.

When he was finally finished signing books, Mr. Leno posed for more photos and then went next door to a shop. He talked with the owner and then with Coburn Benson, of Concord, N.H., who owned a motorcycle shop the young Leno used to frequent. Then the man who as a struggling comedian drove around in Rolls Royces (he worked for Foreign Motors) got in his brother's white Ford Taurus wagon and drove away.

Tuscano Ristorante Italiano

Four miles over the Andover border in Tewksbury is an Italian restaurant becoming renowned for its superb wine as well as its food. Tuscano Ristorante Italiano is one of nine restaurants recently awarded Wine Spectator magazine's Award of Excellence for its wine list.

"That's huge. That's a worldwide magazine," says Davio Frocione, who with his wife, Donatella, are chef/owners of the restaurant.

Restaurants from around the country have since asked to see the list, featuring 145 Italian wine, but to no avail. You must visit Tuscano for that.

"We have priced our wines only $10 over our cost, which will allow people who do not know a lot about wine to experiment with wines, and people who do know a lot about wines to enjoy what we have on our list at reasonable prices," says Chef Davio.

Tuscano this fall is hosting monthly wine dinners, an evening with a set menu paired with five or six wines from a featured vineyard.

Tuscano's food has also won kudos, with favorable reviews from both the Boston Globe and Lowell Sun. The knowledgeable and courteous staff will help you choose among 79 entrees, all prepared in an open kitchen. Try a gourmet pasta, such as Ravioli Langostino, ravioli filled with lobster in a saffron sauce tossed with roasted peppers and spinach. Or experience Tuscano's traditional antipasto bar Friday or Saturday evenings.

Tuscano does not take reservations except for large groups on special occasions, such as Christmas parties or its annual New Year's Eve party.

Hours are: lunch, Monday-Friday 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.; dinner, Monday-Thursday 5-9 p.m., Friday and Saturday 5-10 p.m., and Sundays 4-9 p.m. Take out and private and corporate catering are available.

Tuscano Ristorante, 1866 Main St. (Rte. 38), can be reached taking Dascomb Road to a left on Shawsheen Street in Tewksbury, straight to Rte. 38, right on Rte. 38 and it's next to TewMac Airport. Phone 640-1562. Visit Tuscano's homepage at "dinersgrapevine.com."

A Great Listing Takes Planning

The listing presentation is the first step most sellers take when they are looking for a real estate professional to market their home. They communicate what they expect from the Realtor who will list their home, and the Realtor explains their marketing strategy, including pricing recommendations, advertising, and any special programs they or their companies offer.

A good listing presentation takes careful planning. A written market analysis will help you get a clear idea of local market conditions. Many Realtors will include a marketing plan, as well as suggestions on how to make sure that your home shows well and is accessible to agents. If you are talking to several companies, resist the temptation to go with the person who quotes you the highest price for your house. Look for an agent who is well prepared, professional, and has the best ideas. The most successful transactions involve careful collaboration between the sellers and the Realtor.

Before selecting a Realtor, call 1-888-FAX-2100 and ask for document #2020.
